

CAPTAIN RODGERS, DOLE FLYER, IS KILLED

CURRENT COMMENT
By
Chester H. Rowell

ONE set of men at least should rejoice in the failure of the Geneva conference on naval disarmament. That is the "big navy" boomers. President Coolidge had been able to hold American naval building men below its probable ultimate needs, in the hope of an agreement between the sea powers on a program. That having failed, he may find it difficult to keep us from going, far beyond our needs. We will doubtless succeed in keeping out of a merely competitive race, such as that which the Washington conference stopped. But we shall pay the price, before the next conference, of building more cruisers than we need. Apparently the game of scrapping blue prints does not go. We must build good ships, and then sink them, and the money they cost in the sea, if we are to achieve any real limitation in the navies of the world. Fortunately, even that is cheaper than the alternative. The cheapest thing you can do with a naval vessel, after it is built, is to take it out to sea and sink it.

THE writer, ashore after the long isolation of the sea and the almost as great isolation of distant islands, finds among those best qualified to judge, a general confirmation of his long-distance interpretation of President Coolidge's statement as a final and conclusive elimination of himself. One particularly interesting comment is that of a gentleman expert in the dialect of some one else. That inevitable dilemma will of itself produce an interpretation of his words, by their translation into one or the other of these facts. Meantime politicians, quibbling on words, and concerned chiefly for the distribution of the plums, interpret the statement one way, while the people, with their more direct mind, interpret it the other way.

THE latest gesture is to boom "Jim" Reed of Missouri, for President, on the ground that Hoover is already the foregone conclusion of the Republican situation, and that "Reed is strong where Hoover is weak." The assumption is that Hoover is weak in the Middle West, because he agreed with the President on the McNary-Haugen bill, and because of the fiction (it is a pure fiction) that it was he who held down the price of wheat during the war. Even if this were the case, with more than a single group of voters in the Middle West, or with even all of that group, it ignores the aspect in which Senator Reed is probably the weakest candidate the Democrats could nominate. There are doubtless some Democrats left who are loyal to the memory and the policies of Woodrow Wilson. "Jim" Reed was the bitterest enemy of both. There are still some who are loyal to what have repeatedly been declared to be Democratic principles. Reed is the noisiest denouncer of these principles. And there are whole multitudes of Democrats, in precisely the parts of the country where the party is strongest and its members most loyal, who are dry. Reed is the fiercest of the wets. Is the penalty for loyalty to be to have the party flaunt its most loyal section, in the hope of winning other whose terms of Democratic support are that the Democratic party shall cease to be Democratic?

MEANTIME, with no participation by him, and with no statement from him except an expression of loyalty and support to President Coolidge, the Hoover boom grows apace. The arguments in Hoover's favor are too familiar to need repeating. It's more interesting to note those against him. They are, for instance, "Hoover does not know the political game." That, even if true (as it once was) would be nothing against him. It is, however, no longer true, as those who play it against him will soon learn, if he becomes a candidate. "The farmers resent his fixing the top price of wheat during the war." He had nothing to do with that fixing. "He once lived in England." He did for a time for business purposes, when business called him there. But there

G. O. P. LEADERS WANT COOLIDGE

Deputy Discharged By Jernigan BRUTALITY IS CHARGED BY PRISONER SACCO AND VANZETTI ABANDON ALL HOPE OF ESCAPING CHAIR

Russell Scott, La Habra, Alleges Roscoe Knight Beat Him Up with 'Sap'

DIDN'T HAVE WARRANT

Sheriff Says He Will Not Stand for Such Behavior On Part of His Officers

DEPUTY SHERIFF Roscoe W. Knight was summarily discharged by Sheriff Sam Jernigan today, after charges had been lodged with the sheriff by a prisoner, Russell Scott, of La Habra, who claimed that the officer gave him a severe beating with a "sap" while making the arrest of Scott, near La Habra, late yesterday.

Scott charged, and the sheriff states it to be true, that Roscoe Knight, accompanied by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy, who is under suspension, sought to arrest Scott without a warrant. Scott further charged that when he requested the officers to show their authority for making the arrest, Knight seized a "sap" handed him by McClellan and attacked Scott with it.

Scott then was jailed by Knight on a charge of resisting an officer, in addition to the non-support charge which had brought the officers to Scott's place to arrest him.

Refuses To Talk
At the jail today, Scott declined to make a statement to the newspapers. He bore marks of the asserted attack upon him.

Acting promptly upon Scott's charge, Sheriff Jernigan dismissed Deputy Knight.

"I will not stand for any such behavior by my men," said Jernigan. This case was called to my attention and I am taking immediate action."

Knight, it was recalled today, had not been linked with brutality charges investigated by the grand jury. Yesterday's affair was the first time in which he was involved by accusation. He was appointed deputy sheriff three or four months ago.

According to information given to the authorities, Knight and McClellan visited Scott's place yesterday afternoon to arrest Scott on a non-support charge. The sheriff states that the officers had no warrant, although one was said to have been issued and sent to Los Angeles, where Scott has been living. Knight knew the warrant was out and without Jernigan's knowledge he attempted the arrest without the warrant.

Attacked With 'Sap' Claim
Scott, it was said, knew that McClellan was not on active duty and demanded that the authority for arrest be shown. He is said to have insisted that he had a right to make such a demand. According to the story told authorities, Knight attacked Scott without further provocation when McClellan handed him the "sap."

Reports that the charge of resisting an officer would be dismissed were heard following the sheriff's action in discharging Knight. The district attorney's office, however, stated that it had not yet had opportunity to fully investigate the case, so could not say whether the charge would be dismissed.

Russell Scott is a son of John Scott, La Habra rancher, who was a witness before the grand jury several days ago, in connection with the county jail investigation. Neither Knight nor McClellan could be reached for a statement this afternoon.

Bigamy Admitted By Ben Purnell

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 12—"King Ben" Purnell, once overlord of the $7,000,000 House of David religious colony, but now a weakened invalid, today confessed to bigamy.

Testifying for the defense at the state's attempt to dissolve the colony, Purnell admitted he married his present wife—"Queen Mary"—before he had obtained a divorce from a former mate.

He admitted having married Angeline Brown when he was 16 years old and said he had not obtained a divorce from her when he married Mary Stollard.

Levine, Costes Flights Postponed

PARIS, Aug. 12—Unfavorable weather today prevented Charles A. Levine and Dieudonne Costes from taking off in their air race to the United States.

Levine will be in the Columbia, in which he and Clarence Chamberlin flew to Germany, while Costes will fly a Breguet plane. The start tentatively had been set for today.

The American had been determined that no plane would take off before him and it was with considerable relief that he heard Costes had postponed his flight last night owing to bad weather.

OWENS VALLEY EXCITED OVER BANK CHARGES

Prosecutor Opens Investigation Into Collapse Of Institutions

(By United Press)
BISHOP, Calif., Aug. 12—Investigation into the asserted embezzlement of more than $800,000 that caused the collapse of all banks in Owens valley was pushed by the attorney's office here today, but no arrests are expected to be made for at least 48 hours.

An air of tense expectancy hung over the valley towns as the forces milled about the streets in a dazed fashion, following the disclosure of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of banks, that the banks had not failed as the result of "frozen" loans on ranch properties, but as the result of a huge shortage.

It is understood that District Attorney Jess Hession, of Inyo county, is collecting evidence against W. W. and Mark Watterson, brothers, who controlled the banking institutions of Bishop, Independence, Lone Pine and Big Pine.

That warrants will be issued for the bankers was freely predicted here today. Both refused to discuss the matter other than to assert that depositors would not lose through the failure of their banks.

"I have no doubt that Mr. Wood's statement is absolutely correct," District Attorney Hession said. "As soon as sufficient evidence of specific acts of embezzlement are established, warrants will be secured for the arrest of the guilty parties. The case will not be taken before the Inyo county grand jury, as that body has adjourned, but will go directly to justice court for preliminary examination."

The Wattersons settled in Owens valley 25 years ago, coming here from the Isle of Man practically penniless, and, with the growth of the valley, amassed a fortune, it is said. They were among the bitter opponents of the Los Angeles aqueduct, which has been the object of dynamite attacks for many months.

It was to the "destructive policies" of the city of Los Angeles that the Wattersons attributed the failure of their banks.

Leaps Out Window In Suicide Attempt

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12—Fear that she was to be returned to the Taycheedah industrial home is believed today to have caused the suicide attempt of Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, who jumped from the fourth floor of an apartment building, suffered a skull fracture from which she is expected to die.

Robert Seaton, a bail bond broker, told police he called Mrs. Wilkinson and informed her that he had received information that the Milwaukee chief of police had telegraphed Sheriff Traeger that the woman was wanted for escape from the Taycheedah home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Myers, who were visiting with Mrs. Wilkinson, said she went into another room and leaped from a window.

Four Appeals To Be Brought Before Court

(By United Press)
BOSTON, Aug. 12—Encouraged by the recent series of favorable decisions they have obtained, defense counsel prepared today for the hearing, next Tuesday, before the full bench of the supreme court, which may save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair.

Added to the 12-day respite granted by Governor Fuller and the favorable decision of Judge Sanderson in permitting an appeal from his denial of a writ of error, attorneys for the two anarchists last night obtained from Judge Webster Thayer exceptions from his rulings denying a new trial, revocation of sentence and stay of execution.

All four appeals will be brought before the full bench of the supreme court at next Tuesday's special session.

While their attorneys carried on the fight for them, Sacco and Vanzetti were more cheerful than they were during the 10 preceding days. They were back in the Cherry Hill section of the prison and relatively far from the electric chair which for 10 days was uncomfortably close to their cells. Vanzetti broke his hunger strike yesterday by taking some coffee and liquid food. Sacco, however, continued his fast, which today reached the 27th day.

Both prisoners said they have abandoned hope of escaping the chair. "The courts will do nothing," said Vanzetti.

"There is no use," said Sacco, when the prison physician asked him to take food. "I will do it my way."

Sacco now is so weak that forced feeding may have to be resorted to if the state is to keep him alive for the scheduled execution on August 23.

RANCHERS FLEE AS FLAMES APPROACH

COALINGA, Calif., Aug. 12—Although the desperate efforts of volunteer fire fighters stopped the onrush of the coast range grass fire before it reached Fresno Hot Springs resort, the fire was blazing uncontrolled on other sectors early today.

Thousands of acres of dry feed land, and standing grain have been burned. Reports arrived last night that homesteaders in the hills were fleeing their ranches as the flames crept toward them.

The fire, which started Wednesday, is centered in the Bald mountain section 23 miles west of here. Forty additional fire fighters were sent to the blaze yesterday, making 140 men under the command of three state fire wardens.

La Coste Loses To George Lott

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 12—George Lott Jr., of Chicago, scored the greatest tennis upset of the year today when he beat Rene La Coste, of France, holder of the American, English and French titles, in straight sets in the Meadow Club tournament here. The scores were 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

FITTS WILL GOVERN STATE DURING ABSENCE OF YOUNG

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12—Lt. Gov. Byron R. Fitts will become acting governor of California about August 18 and serve until Gov. C. C. Young returns from the Colorado river development conference, in Denver, August 22, it was learned today at the capital.

This will permit Fitts to attend the first meeting of the governors' council of department heads, scheduled for August 26, if it is decided to hold the meeting despite the absence of Governor Young. If the conference is held, it is considered likely another meeting will be called immediately upon the governor's return.

SHIP, $1,000,000 CARGO OF RUM AND 66 MEN CAPTURED

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Police and Coast Guardsmen today captured the steamship Ansonia, a cargo of liquor valued at $1,000,000, 66 men, six motor trucks and three automobiles.

The captain and crew of the Ansonia were captured single handed by Boatwain G. A. Loomis, who boarded the ship alone after his Coast Guard picket boat 2327 had chased it several miles.

The Ansonia was docked at a shipyard in Staten Island when police of St. George surrounded a large group of men who came up in the trucks and automobiles, apparently to unload her. Thirty-nine men were arrested.

The crew of the Ansonia cut her moorings and started off. The Coast Guard vessel set out in pursuit and overhauled her off the Statue of Liberty. Ferdinand Dauria, a patrolman, noticed early today that there was considerable activity aboard the Ansonia.

He telephoned headquarters and the reserves arrived in time to surround the crowd at the dock. Police believe no liquor had been landed. Few men escaped the cordon and the crew hastily cut the mooring hawsers and headed up the bay.

The Ansonia was believed to have rammed a barge, sinking it, in the effective flight.

RUMORS OF DISAGREEMENT LEAK FROM JURY QUARTERS

Inquisitorial Body's Proceedings Still Veiled By Secrecy

STILL MANTLED by the impenetrable folds of its official secrecy, the grand jury today took the fate of the county jail administration and Sheriff Sam Jernigan into its 19 pairs of hands and started preparation of its verdict.

Curious and questioning eyes sought the guarded doors of an officialdom passed back and forth on its daily business, but no rumors leaked out through the sealed portals to answer their unspoken queries. The public was left to wonder and speculate upon what might be transpiring beyond the grim barrier.

Probably the grand jury is not yet sure itself, what it will do about the jail investigation, it is believed. After a hearing that lasted slightly more than two weeks, the jury adjourned for a brief recess yesterday noon and then, later in the day, transferred its quarters from the Hall of Records to the jury room of superior court department 2. It was announced that the findings would be prepared in the new location.

There the jurors found themselves facing exactly 1602 type-written pages of testimony, mostly the accusation and defense statements of witnesses, who have been talking to the grand jury since July 27. Summing up this mass of testimony was conceded to be an appalling task and there was general belief that the grand jury would be making rapid strides if it filed its report before next week is well along. Some anticipate another 10 days of sessions before the findings are made.

Rumors of a division of sentiment in the grand jury were floating about with other rumors today, but appeared to have no tangible foundation. Even the rumors failed to profess any idea of what the sentiment was and how it might be divided; whether it might be adverse or favorable to the jail and sheriff's office. It was pointed out that a vote of 12 members of the grand jury would be required for the adoption of any report or action, either exonerating or condemning the officials under investigation.

HONOLULU DISAPPOINTED AT DELAY IN RACE

HONOLULU, Aug. 12—Definite postponement of the Dole prize trans-Pacific flight, following a hectic day of uncertainties, came to the islands like a thunderbolt but it was taken in good spirit and the welcome for the flyers will not be dimmed.

James Dole, donor of the prize which brought about the race, told the United Press that he was entirely willing to accept the postponement in the interests of safety and better flying.

Nevertheless the islands are keenly disappointed. Leis which are to wreath the populace and the flyers have been laid aside until Wednesday and some 8000 decorated automobiles have been rolled into the garages. Merchants have postponed their advertising displays, plans for extra newspaper editions have been changed and a great network of protective communications has been compelled to mark time.

L. A. Aviator Third Entrant To Meet Death

(By United Press)
MONTEBELLO, Calif., Aug. 12—Capt. Arthur V. Rodgers, 35, flying the two-motored monoplane, "Angel of Los Angeles," an entry in the Dole flight, crashed and was killed one mile east of here late today.

Rodgers had taken off a few minutes before the accident on the initial flight of the plane. Observers on the ground said that the plane suddenly began to act "queer" at an altitude of 200 feet and went into a dive.

Rodgers, climbing to the wings, leaped with a parachute, which failed to open, and he was carried to the ground with the crazy diving ship.

The flyer's wife witnessed the crash and ran to her husband's side when his body came hurtling through the air. Rodgers was killed instantly and the plane was completely wrecked.

In an interview with the United Press shortly before noon, the aviator expressed elation over the delay in the start of the Dole flight, but was skeptical as to whether the monoplane had been subjected to proper tests for the trans-Pacific hop.

"The ship wasn't built with the Dole flight in view and it was necessary to make hurried arrangements for the flight," Rodgers said.

Premonition of Fate
That Rodgers had a premonition of his fate was evidenced by his constant expressions of doubt that his plane would be ready for the Hawaii hop or that he should hasten completion of the ship to get to Oakland in time.

"I'll make my test hops alone and probably fly to Oakland without a navigator to minimize unnecessary risks," Rodgers said, intimating that he did not feel the ship was in perfect condition.

This is the third crash in three days among the original list of flight contestants. The triplane "Pride of Los Angeles" dived into San Francisco bay yesterday afternoon while trying for a landing on the Oakland flying field, concluding a trip from Southern California.

Capt. James L. Giffin, pilot; Ted Lundgren, navigator, and Lawrence Wall, a passenger, escaped death by climbing to the wings of the sinking ship.

Navy Flyers Killed

On the day previous the Tremain monoplane piloted by Lts. George Covell and A. W. Waggener, U. S. N., crashed in flames at Point Loma, near San Diego, immediately after taking off for Oakland. Both flyers have been wrecked and three men killed since the postponement of the original date for the great race, set at first for August 1.

Rodgers' residence was in Los Angeles.

30 EL RETIRO GIRLS ESCAPE; 21 CAUGHT

SAN FERNANDO, Calif., Aug. 12—Following a hectic encounter with squads of police, all but nine of 30 girls who rebelled and fled from the El Retiro Corrective school here today were taken into custody and lodged in juvenile hall, Los Angeles.

Smoldering discontentment over conditions which they claim are intolerable, due to a recent change in authority, burst into a near riot at the school today and the rebellious young women took charge of the institution and then fled.

The trouble followed the appointment of Mrs. Rosemary Good as superintendent of the school, according to W. H. Holland, superintendent of county charities. The girls engaged in an open revolt this morning and swept all opposition before them.

A riot call was sent into the Van Nuys police division and officers dispatched to the scene found 21 of the 30 girls walking down San Fernando boulevard. In stopping the girls, the officers were severely stoned, kicked and scratched, according to police reports.

DEADLOCK EXPECTED

Knutson, Selvig Say Minnesota Will Divide Between Hoover, Lowden

(By United Press)

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 12—A complex situation has been stirred up here with the arrival of eight Republican leaders from all sections of the country, most of whom believe President Coolidge will be renominated despite his announcement that he does not choose to be a candidate in 1928.

Five of the eight indicate he will be drafted. They say that the Republican party will be deadlocked over two or more other candidates and that Mr. Coolidge is most thought of in his district. Senator Fess, Ohio, said he had told Mr. Coolidge that the party intended to demand his renomination, but all he received was a statement of the president to the effect that he believed the Republican party contained many able men and that he had no desire for another term.

Representative Hull, Illinois, predicts that it is likely the delegates to the next national convention will encounter a spontaneous movement to make Mr. Coolidge the nominee.

Gov. John S. Fisher, Pennsylvania, who was elected with the support of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, says that Mr. Coolidge is most thought of in his district. Secretary of the Interior Work professed the opinion that the western country being almost unanimously for the president would insist that he run again.

The two dissenting notes in the chorus were voiced by Representatives Knutson and Selvig, Minnesota, who said that their state would be divided between Lowden and Hoover.

LABOR LEADERS WANT COOLIDGE TO RUN

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 12—The department of labor has conducted an extensive survey of sentiment among labor leaders throughout the country showing a general regret that President Coolidge does not choose to run for re-election, Secretary of Labor Davis said upon his arrival here today.

Davis denied he had been ordered here by Mr. Coolidge and said he flew in an airplane from Mooseheart, Ill., to Huron, S. D., only because an opportunity had been offered him to make a quick trip.

Man Shoots Wife, Then Kills Self

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12—An inquest is scheduled to be held here today into a tragedy of marital dissension that snuffed out the lives of Henry L. Ritter and his pretty estranged wife, Mrs. Cora Ritter, here shortly after midnight.

Waiting for his wife to arrive home from a candy store, which she conducts, Ritter stepped from the shadows of the porch and shot the woman through the head. He then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide, according to Robert A. Eastman, a druggist, who accompanied Mrs. Ritter to her home.

According to Eastman, Mrs. Ritter came to his store last night and, expressing fear that she was in danger, asked that he accompany her home. Eastman was sitting in a taxicab in front of the house when Ritter stepped from his place of concealment and fired.

Breathless Man Little Improved

RICHMOND, Calif., Aug. 12—When firemen today had passed their 100th hour of administering artificial respiration to Henry Britten, 27, ill in a local hospital with double pneumonia, a slight improvement was seen in his condition. Inhalator work on Britten, who has been in the hospital for two weeks, started at 3 a. m. Monday. The local department established what it believes to be a record for such work when respiration was given Harold Purviance for 207 hours in May. He recovered.

ANAHEIM AUTO DEALER FINED UNDER NEW LAW

A gentle reminder that the new laws of the state, which went into effect on July 29, must be obeyed, was made in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, when he fined A. H. Frahm, Anaheim automobile dealer, $25 on a charge of failure to record a transfer of title.

It is the first case of its kind to come before the justice court of Santa Ana.

"The law provides for a maximum fine of $500, but I am going to give you the minimum fine just as a gentle reminder," Justice Morrison said.

Frahm told the court that the car he sold was back in his possession and that he had recovered it as soon as he learned that the person to whom he sold it was a minor.

The violation is of section No. 45 1/2 of the motor vehicle law, sub-section B, according to F. G. Yoder, state officer, who made the arrest.

"Dealers must report a sale the day the sale is made and in order to do so must have the pink slip of ownership in their possession," Yoder said.

"Dealers must not take a car in trade unless they receive the pink certificate properly endorsed. Another thing, dealers must not have in their possession for sale any car with an out-of-state license plate," he said.

Yoder said today that a check of this sort of violation would be made at all times, and that prosecution would follow whenever the state squad found where this law had been violated.

Socialist Deputy Lavish Spender

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Champagne and fine pastries are affecting the socialist reputation of Fernand Bouisson, president of the chamber of deputies.

Bouisson is the richest socialist in French politics.

The popular idea here that socialism is synonymous with poverty and that the theory must be visualized by shabbiness, is getting quite a shock.

When Bouisson, who is given a palace by the government, gave his first reception, it was a marvel of rich food, costly drink and elaborate decoration.

All the cabinet ministers were there, including Briand who abhors society's entertainments.

"He's nice, Bouisson," whispered Briand to Andre Tardieu, who isn't a socialist.

"Yes, indeed," answered Tardieu, "and he's a socialist who isn't ashamed of being rich."

Home Opened For Jobless Actors

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—A home for jobless actors and actresses has been opened in Berlin with the assistance of business men and stage stars. Luncheons will be served for a nominal charge of from 6 to 10 cents in a dining room seating 50 persons.

Two other rooms have been set aside as reading and writing parlors, and an employment office will be opened. There are as yet no dormitories. More than 700 professional actors are out of work in Berlin. The home is under the management of Frau Anna von Palen, who has been on the stage for many years.

Million Dollar Damage Done By Flood

TUSCUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 12.—A million dollars damage has been done in 10 counties of the Osage river valley, it was estimated today as high waters continued to sweep through the counties. The Osage left its banks a few days ago and is spreading havoc through the rich bottom land of its valley. Corn has suffered the greatest damage.

CHAPLIN ENROUTE TO L. A. FOR TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—Two events of importance marked the progress of the simmering Chaplin divorce case today, with indications that the sensational trial would open on schedule August 22.

Reports that Charlie Chaplin had left New York and now is enroute to California were not denied by Lloyd Wright, the comedian's local attorney, who "presumed" that Chaplin was enroute to Los Angeles for the trial.

Meanwhile Attorney Edwin T. McMurray, uncle of Mrs. Chaplin, said the amended divorce complaint, which is expected to name several screen stars as having been familiar with the comedian, either will be filed tomorrow or early next week.

Better Weather Is Awaited by Flyer

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Otto Koennecke definitely informed Lufthansa officials last night that, weather permitting, he would start from Cologne Saturday on his flight to New York. Koennecke's statement was denied by the newspaper Koelnische Zeitung, which said the flight had been postponed until the end of August.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Funeral services for Robert E. Connolly, 49, widely known mining man and newspaper writer, will be held here tomorrow, following his death from a long illness.

SEARCH BEGINS TO FIND TALLEST MAN

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12.—Wanted: The tallest man in California. Prizes, medals, trophies and honors await him at the California state fair September 3 to 10, which, for the first time in history, is offering premiums for the tallest native.

While long cucumbers, tall wheat, tall trees and all manner of "big" products of the golden state have been decorated with ribbons and showered with premiums, there never has been a reward offered for the tallest man.

"It's a downright shame," said the fair board. "California has long been known as the state where the handsome women and the big men grow, so we're going to offer a prize for the tallest man."

Contestants are asked to measure their height, in inches and fractions, with shoes off, and send this information, together with name, address, date and place of birth to Secretary Charles W. Paine, state agricultural society, Sacramento.

2.75 BEER IS HELD ENFORCEMENT CRUX

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Col. James C. Waddell, who has resigned as federal supervisor of alcohol and breweries, today declared 2.75 beer would solve prohibition enforcement problems in the United States.

"While the prohibition bureau is making good progress in enforcing the law, with the exception of wort beer malt, the law cannot be enforced in its present status," he said in an interview here. "From an enforcement standpoint, the only possible solution for the impossible conditions is 2.75 per cent beer."

"Prohibition is intended to prevent drunkenness and one is a fanatic who construes it otherwise."

Poem Parties Are Ordered Resumed

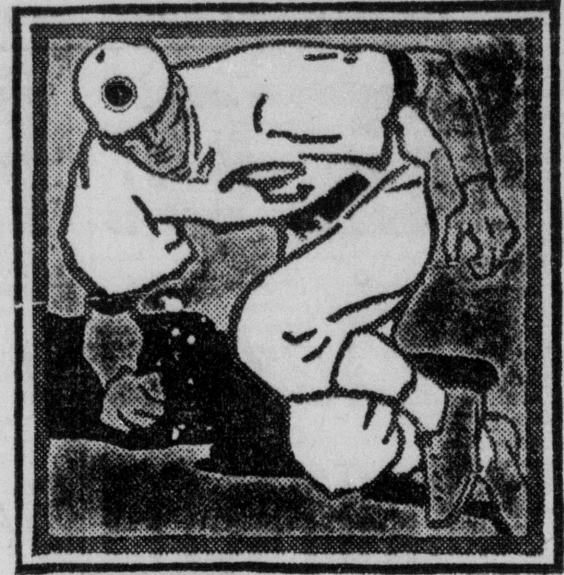

TOKIO, Aug. 12.—The imperial monthly poem party, one of the features of Japanese court life, is to be resumed after having been suspended several months because of the death of the Emperor Taisho. A subject for each poem-party is always provided by his majesty. For the remainder of this year, Emperor Hirohito announced the following subjects upon which the versifying guests may try their hands: September, "Moonlight in the Garden;" October, "A Chrysanthemum by a Mountain Road;" November, "Ice in the Dale;" and December, "An Icy Night." The poem-party is held on the fifth of each month.

Two Fires Break
Out In Santa Ana

Two fires in Santa Ana last night, caused a damage of approximately $1000, according to reports made by Chief John Luxembourger today. Both were probably caused from spontaneous combustion, he said.

The first fire broke out at 5
p. m. in a garage owned by Mike Artiz, 720 East Fifth street. The damage was approximately $300. A pile of rags in a corner of the garage were first seen ablaze, it was said.

A loss of approximately $625 was caused at 8 p. m. when a fire partially destroyed the garage and private laundry of Joe Lemons, 702
South Flower street.

Firemen were called to the rear of Dr. J. N. Burlew's office at Eighth street and Broadway at 6
a. m., today to extinguish a small blaze which had started in a trash pile.

Before books became so generally used, persons fortunate enough to possess any guarded them closely, often chaining those containing business records to their legde; thus they became known as "leggers."

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSN. IN RESOLUTION ASKS COUNTY AND CITY TO BUY AT HOME

Buy at home.

This suggestion, embodied in a resolution adopted by the Business Men's association of Santa Ana, has been communicated to the school board of Santa Ana, to F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, and E. B. Collier, city manager. The Business Men's association, through its operating committee, took cognizance of repeated complaints of Santa Ana business firms and manufacturers as to the frequency with which contracts for supplies and materials are placed with firms outside the county, according to the report of Earl Ruddy, secretary of the association.

Considering that outside firms pay neither city nor county taxes and in no way contribute to the prosperity of the community the Business Men's association considered it feasible and fair that a resolution should be spread on its minutes urging strong cooperation on the part of the city and county purchasing agencies, Ruddy said.
The action was taken at the regular August meeting of the operating committee which was held in the association headquarters Tuesday evening.

From the extended discussion given to the matter I believe that the directors of our association recognize the many difficulties attending the purchase of public supplies," said Ruddy. "We recognize that the purchasing agents must practice economy and use good business sense. The purpose of the resolution, I believe, is to call upon the public officials concerned to use every vigilance in seeing that county and city business men are permitted to enter bids, and to give consideration to the fact that local dealers often cannot enter the selling field on the same competitive basis, but by taking a short profit can come within a very small percentage of meeting the figures of outside competition."

While various business lines have entered protest before, renewed discussion and the adoption of the resolution followed complaints from paint firms as to the recent award of a contract by the school board for the painting of the three main high school buildings, the secretary said.

The resolution adopted by the association is in the adjoining column.

TRAIN SERVICE IS HALTED BY BROKEN AXLE

Santa Fe train service into Santa Ana was belated this morning at 10:20 o'clock, when an axle on the engine of train 72, bound for San Diego, broke, stranding the train near Placentia boulevard, half way between Anaheim and Orange. No one was injured.

The derailed engine will be back on the tracks and out of the way in time to allow afternoon
trains to use the line on schedule.
Santa Fe officials reported late today.

Passengers on the train will be delayed approximately one half hour in reaching San Diego, according to reports. Immediately following the accident all cars were disconnected from the engine and taken back to Fullerton. At Fullerton an emergency engine took the train in tow, bringing the train to Santa Ana by way of Atwood.

The broken axle was on the oil tender of the engine. The heavy tender slumped down between the tracks and brought the train to a halt in approximately 50 yards, according to reports. Lou Litterer was the engineer. The cars were not derailed.

An emergency wrecking crew was rushed to the scene immediately and it was estimated by Santa Fe officials that the engine would be on the track again in a few hours' time. Some damage was reported done to the track.

Court Notes

Sues for Divorce
Victor G. Loly, Anaheim busi-today in a divorce suit filed in superior court by Mrs. Sarah L.

occasion, she stated, he upset the dinner table and dishes in a fit and kicked her while she was holding her baby in her arms.

The couple married at Anaheim

this year.

OVER 4000 AT BAND CONCERT LAST EVENING

Surpassing previous records, over 4000 music-lovers of Santa Ana and surrounding communities eagerly crowded Birch Park last evening, to enjoy the picturesque and novel concert program presented by Santa Ana Municipal band, D. C. Clanton, director.

Blithe gaiety and admirably shaded, well-accented crescendos marked the opening march, "Fidelity" (Blankenburg). The overture "Mignon" from the well-known opera by Charles Ambrose Thomas, was indeed a masterpiece of execution, the delicacy and exquisite restraint with which this number was rendered being truly worthy of special mention. Subdued and ethereal, the whispered pianissimo of the opening blended gradually into charming and plaintive melody, modulating into a spontaneous, graceful gypsy dance, captivating and brilliant. The exceeding delicacy and attentiveness to detail with which the band interpreted this number gave evidence of excellent training.

Followed by the grand selection from Gounod's "Faust," the solemnity of its opening measures made impressive contrast to rapidly, ever-changing highly-colored effects woven swiftly into a remarkably vivid whole. Soft floating melody, fervent with feeling and tenderness marked the clear purity of Director Clanton's two trombone solos. The plaintive wistfulness of their dreamy harmonies was abruptly followed by the familiar, clean-cut, in a brilliant finale, bringing forth such warmth of enthusiastic response from the audience that it was graciously acknowledged by the band's entire personnel.

One of the chief attractions of the evening's program, Robert Brown, popular local baritone, was especially satisfying in the favorite, "Goodbye." His voice, its depth of emotion and restraint especially compelling, made the representation of this loved song poignant with heart-appeal. His encore number "The Rosary," another heart-song, was replete with pathos and longing, and equally well received by his hosts of admirers.

Publicly thanking Mr. Brown in behalf of the band, and also expressing to the audience the gratitude felt by the organization for the splendid attendance during the present series, Mr. Harry Hanson, president and manager of the band, stated that next Thursday evening, designated as "Church Night," an especially prepared sacred program would be presented, featuring exceptionally fine numbers, including Meyerbeer's "Coronation March," overture "The Nabucco" by Verdi, a solo "The Holy City" by Maurice Phillips, Frank Schubert's famous "Unfinished Symphony" and Massenet's "Angelus."

Unique, novel and very pleasing, the piccolo duet, "Birds of the Forest" (Mayr), given by S. Briggs and V. Schlippe, transported one in fancy to a woodland bower, where hidden birds twittered among the leaves, its tinkling bird-like sweetness sympathetically accompanied by the band with effective contrast.

This was followed by one of the evening's most impressive numbers, Director Clanton's own colorfully spectacular composition, "The Titanic Disaster," remarkable for realistic imagery and dramatically picturesque. The peaceful solemnity of the night and the solitude of mid-ocean were especially well expressed and realistic, with splashing water against the prow of the boat. When the fatal crash came, and pandemonium broke forth, the sensational musical effects thrilled with remarkable power. As lights faded out and echoes of the night, the music died away, leaving one with a feeling of awe and dramatic tragedy.

Vivid, scintillating with fire and brilliantly contrasted modulations, the selection from Victor Herbert's "Red Mill" charmed with rapid succession of ever-varying moods, fairylike silvery-bell effects broken by vigorous martial rhythms. In perfect harmony and accord, Director Clanton and his musicians never spare themselves, tirelessly striving for vital and satisfying musical effects.

The closing concert waltz, "Esperanza" (Waldteufel) surged with joyousness and riotous abandon, its wildly flashing gaiety and daring revelry with clinking of castanets and rapidly radiating harmonies charmed with exultant youth and spontaneity unusually stimulating.

Tilden Beats Brugnon, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 12.—William T. Tilden, 11, today reached the final round of men's singles in the invitation tennis tournament at the Meadow club when he defeated Jacques Brugnon of France, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0.

The gallery saw Tilden at his best and although Brugnon occasionally put over some fine placements, the Philadelphia was always his master.

PLANE BUILDER EXPLAINS WHY SHIP CRASHED

Expressing the belief that Lts. George Covell and R. W. Waggener, who lost their lives when the Brea monoplane crashed into an embankment at Point Loma, early Wednesday morning, had miscalculated their altitude, W. D. Tremaine, co-builder of the monoplane, issued a statement today anent the tragedy. His statement follows:

"The ship left North Island at 7:18 a. m. August 1, being piloted by Lieut. Covell and carrying Lieut. Waggener as navigator. The ship made a perfect take-off, leaving the ground in 22 seconds and immediately was lost in dense fog which lay very thickly above the ground in the surrounding vicinity. The ship circled the island before taking off on its course. The men stationed at the marine base saw the ship come out of the fog with its nose down, flying very fast, headed directly towards Point Loma Bluff and very close to the bluff. One of the flyers at this time was seen looking from the window of the plane, and evidently seeing their peril, attempted to bank the ship to avoid striking the bluff. But, being too close to the bluff to bank, their attempt to do so was unsuccessful, one of the wings striking the ground, the plane crashing head-on into the bluff and immediately bursting into flames."

Tremaine after interviewing several of the officers in charge at the wreck, one of whom had seen the plane wreck, and others of whom had seen the plane take off from North Island, states that they were of the opinion that Lieuts. Covell and Waggener must have thought that they had passed over Point Loma while in the fog and that at the time of the crash they were descending in order to get under the fog.

Beautiful J. E. Paul Home Is Made Setting for Garden Party

One of the interesting features about the Dr. James E. Paul home between Santa Ana and Tustin, is the large latticed inclosure at the rear of the house where the driveway ends. Nestled amidst walnut and citrus trees, always cool and shady from two unusually large walnuts growing within its latticed walls and fragrant with the varied flowers without, it is an ideal retreat on a warm sunny day and has often been the setting for Mrs. Paul's entertaining.

Yesterday it was again put to friendly social use when the senior Mrs. Paul, with Mrs. Cassius Paul, young wife of her son, Dr. Cassius Paul, presented a delightful mid-summer bridge luncheon. Standing just within the rose arbor entrance to the charming spot, the two hostesses greeted there guests, over 150 in number. Mrs. James E. Paul was in white canton crepe braided in Greek design while the junior Mrs. Paul wore a two-piece frock of crepe de chine whose embroidered blouse repeated the two tones of pink in the pleated skirt.

Assisting them were Mrs. Lewis P. Moulton, Mrs. Hugh Plumb and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, while offering the trays of tallly cards were Mrs. Harry Le Bard (Lois Sweet) and Miss Olive Gilbert. The pretty cards they displayed sounded an original note, for it was speedily discovered by the guests that they went in sets of four, no two sets alike. Each design had its counterpart on some one of the three dozen or more card tables, and luncheon places were found by matching tally card with table card. The daintiest of embroidered linens, with rainbow-tinted center candy baskets, made the tables most inviting.

With a bevy of young girls to aid the hostesses and Mrs. Slabaugh and Mrs. Moulton, serving was swiftly accomplished. In the group were Mrs. Le Bard, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Miss Helen Slabaugh, Miss Marian Crookshank, Miss Faye Monette and Miss Gilbert. The luncheon menu included such pleasing things as chicken salad with tiny hot biscuits, scalloped potatoes au gratin, and other appetizing dishes, ending with ice cream roll, cake and coffee. At its close, the friendly little groups broke up to form in new combinations as they sought places at the tables as indicated on their tally cards.

Written rules allowed the players a great deal of latitude in bidding but required that the fourth hand at each table, be a no-trump, and credited to the opponents' score. Another novel feature was that losers progressed. Announcement by one of the hostesses that prizes to be awarded would not be for high score, added a final distinctive touch.

The explanation of the latter statement was one of the high lights of the afternoon. Each guest was asked to examine her score card. If it bore a letter written on its face, she was to step to the center of the group. Nine players were so selected: Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. William E. Otis and J. William Taylor, whose letters spelled "fun"; Mrs. James A. Tarpley, Mrs. Ralph Mosher and Mrs. Milburn Harvey, whose letters formed the word "boy"; and Mrs. Lucy White, Dr. Hester Olewiler and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, who together, produced "cat." Each one was asked to cut the cards, and the highest in each group formed a final trio to cut the cards again for the prizes. As a result, the exquisite pieces of Fostoria glass in frosted and etched design, which the hostesses had chosen as prize rewards, were presented Mrs. Harrison, first; Mrs. Harvey, second, and Mrs. Taylor, third.

Pretty Shower Is Held For Mrs. Ralph Beltz

That charming young matron, Mrs. Ralph Beltz, was made the honoree yesterday afternoon at a shower given for her by Mrs. Jerry Phillips and Mrs. Ralph Drage at the latter's home on West Fourth street.

The afternoon was spent in playing several interesting games. Mrs. Max Thome and Mrs. Earl Hall scored high in the games and were awarded attractive gifts as a result.

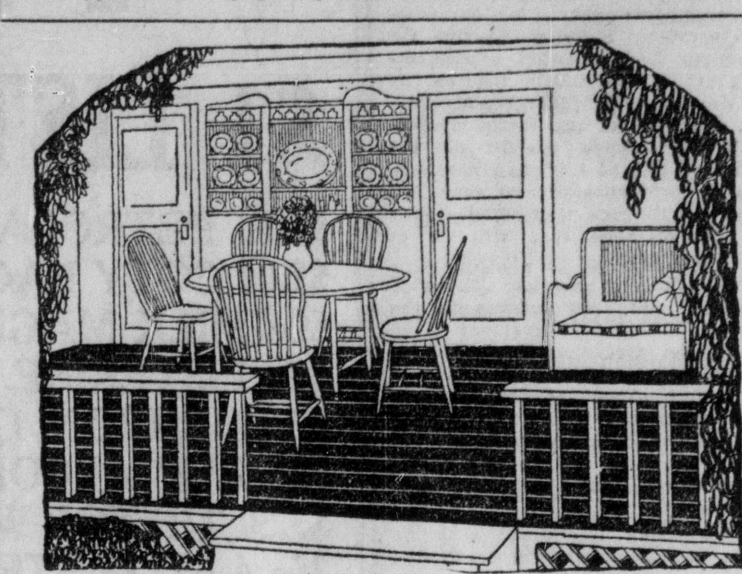

As many of the guests had not seen each other since the school days of several years ago the party took on the semblance of a reunion and many were the happy memories recalled by the guests.

As tables were being prepared for the serving of refreshments the honoree was presented with a basket which held many gifts of wee dresses, nighties, and other articles for baby wear.

Those enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Hayden Squires, Mrs. Elmer Beltz, Mrs. Merle House, Mrs. W. D. Searcy, Lucile Searcy, Mrs. C. E. Harris, Mrs. Neville, Mrs. Mae MacGillivray, Mrs. F. R. Seargeant, Mrs. M. Thome, Mrs. Austin Watts, Mrs. Helen Frazer, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. L. Wilkins, Mrs. Earl Hall, Mrs. Fred Faber, honoree Mrs. Ralph Beltz, and hostesses Mrs. Jerry Phillips and Mrs. Ralph Drage.

Mrs. Margaret Spurgeon Returns from North

Mrs. Margaret Spurgeon of the Bungalow Apartments on North Sycamore street returned home yesterday after having spent five weeks in Northern California visiting relatives.

Mrs. Spurgeon motored north with her son, Robert Spurgeon and Mrs. Spurgeon. The three went to Arroyo Grande where they were guests of Mrs. Spurgeon's brother, Robert English and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurgeon remained there only a few days before returning to Santa Ana.

While in the north Mrs. Spurgeon visited in Monterey and Watsonville at which place she had lived years before when first coming to California from Texas soon after the Civil war. She also spent some time in San Luis Obispo where a niece lives.

Quill Pen Club Members Picnic at Smith Ranch

Putting aside ordinary affairs of the day, members of the Quill Pen club left pen and paper at home and gathered at the beautiful ranch home of Mrs. H. M. Smith, on Santa Clara avenue, where they enjoyed a weiner roast and marshmallow bake last night.

A huge bonfire beneath a pepper tree furnished warmth and light for the activities of the Quill Pen members. And the moon which was full added its light and beauty to make the picnic supper a success.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. J. U. Viaw had arranged the details of the party which was voted a great success by those present.

Members who enjoyed the affair were the hostesses, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Viaw, Mrs. J. M. Adams, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Marshal Harolds, Mrs. Fred Conover, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Mrs. Herman Reuter, and Miss Pearl Camblin.

California Sends Barley To London

WOODLAND, Calif., Aug. 12.—Scene: English "pub." Time: 1927.

Characters: Sir John Cockney, bar tender and kindred soul. Sir Cockney: "HT'll tyke a bottle of 10-year-old Dunningan extra."

Barkeep: "Right you h'are, sir. The best h'American grain went into it, sir. From Yolo county, sir. h'out in Cal-ho-for-nee."

That, according to reports from English exporters who have been buying grain in the Dunningan and Zamora districts, is just what is likely to be heard ten years from now—if they can keep the liquor that long.

English buyers, declaring Yolo barley the best in the state, are shipping it back to the British isle for making of "fine liquors."

Incense or scented paper burned in the house will keep it free from midges and mosquitoes.

Patriotic Organization Celebrates Sixteenth Anniversary

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War gathered yesterday afternoon in Birch park where they celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of the founding of Sarah A. Rounds tent, No. 10.

Ninety persons including guests from Laguna Beach and Orange gathered around the picnic tables at noon when a delicious chicken dinner was served.

In the afternoon an interesting program was presented by Miss Bertha Belt, president of the local tent. Following the community singing of "America" Mrs. Ober, president of the Orange tent, made a brief address in which she complimented the Santa Ana tent on its growth during the past 16 years. She also spoke of the high ideals attained by the club and of the much good work accomplished through the chapter.

Mrs. Emma Chapman and Mrs. Lulu Johnston presented a duet appropriate to the presentation of a picture of Mrs. Mary Hubbard, founder of Sarah A. Rounds tent and affectionately known as "mother of the tent" to the organization. Mrs. May Thomas gave the picture on behalf of the Past presidents' club.

Other selections on the program included two numbers by Miss Nada Smith with Miss Carrie Seaton, accompanist, readings by Nina June Robertson, two songs by Mrs. Johnston who was also accompanied by Miss Seaton, readings by Little Miss Fay Smith, piano solos by Miss Sadie Skiles, and a short address by Commander Brown of Sedgewick post. Miss Belt presented a beautiful bouquet to Mrs. Daring.

The five charter members to be present at yesterday's celebration were Mrs. Eva Bell, Mrs. Carrie Smith, Mrs. Esther Gardner, Mrs. Maude Wallace, and Mrs. May Thomas. Mrs. Lydia Scammon of Laguna Beach was also present.

Waterlilies Chosen As Party Motif

Waterlilies formed the motif for a delightful bridge luncheon given by Mrs. C. A. Boddy of La Habra at the La Habra Women's club house Wednesday in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Roscoe Lee of Modesto.

Pink and blue in pastel shades were used to further carry out the lovely color scheme.

Mrs. Gold Lindauer scored high at bridge and was awarded a handsome silk pillow. A dainty hand painted handkerchief was awarded to Mrs. Paul Pratt, second high, and Miss Nettie Sensania received a box of handkerchiefs as consolation. Mrs. Lee was presented with a silk pillow as guest prize.

Guests at the affair were Mrs. Nick Heet, Mrs. Herbert Little, Mrs. V. M. Tressler, Mrs. Charles Milligan of Whittier, Mrs. C. Hamilton of Whittier, Mrs. D. DeVelbs of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. J. A. Chewning, Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mrs. Dan Hungerford, Mrs. R. H. Hilbert, Mrs. W. A. Ritto, Mrs. G. A. VanValen, Mrs. Geo Soule, Mrs. Y. LEGIONNAIRES OF SANTA ANA HOLD MEETING

The race for commander of Santa Ana post, No. 131, American Legion, took on a new aspect last night at the regular meeting of the post, when a third candidate was nominated to run against Carl Edgar, present first vice commander and Charles Van Wyk, who were nominated a month ago. The new candidate is Franklin Grouard, a past commander of the post and one of Santa Ana's best known legionnaires.

Grouard was nominated by Robert Collins and after rumors had been heard that a "dark horse" would be elected into the race, which already had promised to be one of the most hard fought contests the post has had in a number of years.

Last night's meeting was attended by some 200 Legion men. It started with a chicken dinner served by the Legion auxiliary, at which a number of notables were present.

Entertainment for the evening probably was the best the post has ever had, according to Commander Jules Markel, who complimented Ed Kolbe, chairman of the entertainment committee for the programs throughout the year.

The entertainment featured Telanina and Chief Yowlache, of the Fairy Woods Grove Presentation now appearing in the Laguna Beach pageant and they were enthusiastically received by the Legion members. Others from the group of Laguna artists were Mr. Davidson who gave a cello solo, accompanied by Miss Chancer, and Elmer Jahraus.

The Bear Cafe entertainers played several dance numbers.

Another special feature of the program was the showing of the Santa Barbara convention pictures taken by Leo Tiede, Santa Ana photographer. This show, which lasted for 15 minutes, featured the Santa Barbara parade in which Orange county Legionnaires played a prominent part.

The West Coast-Walker theater presented several Fanchon and Marco artists under the leadership of Jack Stern, master of ceremonies.

Aside from the nomination of Grouard for commander, Herman Zabel, head of the welfare committee of the post, was nominated for second vice commander. His nomination was made by William Welland in a flowery speech. Zabel's campaign was well under way by the time the post meeting was over.

George E. Hubbard, leader of the post's bugle and drum corps, made a short talk asking the post to give its support in every way to the drum corps, in anticipation of making it one of the best in the entire state.

ADVENTISTS OF ALL SOUTHLAND IN CAMP HERE

With every family tent on the encampment spoken for and cars of campers arriving hourly, the Seventh Day Adventist campmeeting in the full swing on its 10-day session. Elder W. A. Spicer, president of the World Conference will speak tonight on the advance line of Christian missions. As a world speaker and seer, Mr. Spicer will give a personal touch to his message that will be of special appeal.

The opening service, Thursday night, found 1200 persons in the large auditorium. President P. E. Brodersen welcomed the encampment.

"I feel especially thankful for this camp this year. The success of these meetings rests in our relation to them and to the Christian cause and to God," said Brodersen.

Contrasting the world situation with the ideals set for it by the Christian church, Elder J. E. Fulton spoke on the topic, "What of the Night?" This is the question before many people today, he declared, but hope lies ahead.

"While the outlook may be dark, the uplook is bright. I am not a pessimist, but I believe that serious times are before the world, and the church of God must go through triumphant," said Fulton.

The services throughout the day brought departmental speakers, young people's meetings and missionary sermons.

It is predicted that Saturday will see 500 people at the camp meeting to participate in the Adventist activities over the weekend. Many church members who cannot attend regularly throughout the week will take advantage of the Saturday and Sunday services, it is believed.

Elder H. M. Blunden and Secretary David Voth, of the Home Missionary department arrived early today. Other officials on the grounds include Prof. D. A. Ochs, dean of the Southern Junior college, Prof. C. A. Baldwin, of Pacific Union college, and Evangelist W. H. Bradley of San Diego.

Cypress Rancher Divorced In L. A.

"Give 'em three meals. That's enough," was the idea of Charles G. Campbell, Cypress rancher, as to how wives should be supported, according to his own, Mrs. Goldie Campbell, who was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Sproul in Los Angeles yesterday.

"He was one of those men—I understand there are many like him—who think that if a wife has three meals a day and is provided with a roof she ought to be satisfied," Mrs. Campbell is reported as testifying, "I scarcely saw a nickel and when I insisted that he buy me some shoes he kicked my shins," she is said to have told the judge.

Judge Sproul agreed that this was cruelty, and granted her decree.

These MOVIE PEOPLE

The number of members of the Board of Decision of the Laemmle Award was increased by Carl Laemmle just before he sailed for Europe recently. It now includes: Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press; Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press; M. Koenigsberg, head of the International News Service; Dr. Roland Schacht, German author; Jean Sapene, publisher of Le Matin; Arthur H. Kirchdorfer, president of the National Press club and James R. Quirk, editor of Photoplay magazine. Annual prizes totaling $5000, will be awarded for constructive ideas and suggestions for advancement of quality and usefulness of motion pictures.

There is hope for the handsome young shoe salesman, soda dispensers and farm hands who feel they should be shining on the movie screen.

Doug Fairbanks, as a youth, wasted his gymnastic genius in the prosaic job of a Wall Street clerk. That was in the early 1900's, at about the time that John Barrymore was sitting in a corner of the New York Journal office, making mediocre newspaper illustrations.

And that illustrious duo are only two of the score of film-land's famous who earned their early livelihoods in roles far removed from the screen, according to a story in the Photoplay Magazine's September issue.

It reveals that William Boyd, that doughty figure of the war films, worked in the California orange groves, and again as a grocer's clerk, before he got his chance at Hollywood. Lloyd Hughes, before he got around to driving race roadsters, drove a delivery cart for a butcher shop. Monte Blue was a theater carpenter before he won his way to stardom.

John Gilbert sold automobile tires. Adolphe Menjou, although college educated, did a turn as gardener on the Astor estate. William Haines sold bonds before a "handsomest man" contest landed him in the movies.

Lon Chaney, the versatile gentleman who can become a Zulu chieftain or a Lule log on ten minutes' notice, learned the art of make-up while serving a long apprenticeship as a stage-hand, the article discloses.

TOASTMASTER CLUBS GATHER IN SANTA ANA

Thirty-eight business and professional men, representing five Southern California cities, met at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. last night to consider the welfare of the "Toastmasters" clubs in their respective communities.

Men were present from Los Angeles, Ontario, Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana. They brought reports of flourishing clubs, doing effective work, and rendering great service to the members, in all of these cities.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss plans for forming a district organization for mutual helpfulness, and to study methods of promoting new clubs in cities which have not yet been organized.

Chester E. Hawk, president of the Santa Ana club, presided at the meeting, and welcomed the visitors. R. C. Smedley, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. and originator of the Toastmasters club idea in California was introduced as toastmaster of the evening, and guided the discussion with skill and decision as the various topics were presented by speakers of various minds.

The quality of speeches both prepared and extemporaneous, which were delivered in the course of the evening, indicated in some measure the value of the training which is being given by these clubs to their members.

The meeting was a delegated body, and had no authority to take final action, but at the close, a resolution was adopted embodying the thought of the evening, which set forth that "it is the sense of this meeting that definite consideration be given by the individual clubs to the question of a permanent federated organization of the Toastmasters clubs, and that such steps as may be properly and legally taken for the protection of the name and idea of the organization should be instituted. In order to facilitate the carrying out of these matters, the chairman of this meeting be instructed to appoint appropriate committees to consider these matters, these committees to report to a subsequent meeting of representatives of the clubs, to be convened by the chairman."

As a result of this action, it is expected that steps will be taken in the near future to form a federation of the five clubs now at work in this vicinity, and later on to increase their number by forming new clubs where they seem to be needed.

IRVINE RANCH FARMERS BEGIN CUTTING BEANS

Farmers on the Irvine ranch today are cutting the first of the blackeye bean crop on 5000 acres there and preliminary estimates by William C. Jerome, county auditor, indicate that the Irvine crop will be approximately 25,000 bags. Jerome's figures for the county show that 100,000 bags of blackeyes in this district. The Irvine acreage is one fourth of the latter figure.

Officials at the Irvine ranch predict that the cutting will end in about 10 days and that the first shipment of beans will leave the last week of August. Harvesting all over the county is now in progress and will terminate in two weeks. A price of four to four and a half cents is looked for by those familiar with the market.

Training Sites For Jack, Gene Are Announced

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Training sites for Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, who will fight for the heavyweight championship September 22, have been selected, at least temporarily.

Tunney, according to his manager, Billy Gibson, will train at Lake Villa, Ill.

According to information in the loop, Dempsey has selected Lincoln Fields race course at Crete, Ill.

DEL MONTE TO CAN PIMIENTOS EXCLUSIVELY

This year the Del Monte packing house situated in Santa Ana is going to direct its efforts entirely to the canning of pimientos. In previous years the cannery has dealt to some extent with chili peppers and string beans besides the pimientos. The company already has contracted approximately 1000 acres of the pimientos for canning this year and the prospects for a successful season are bright.

Last year the planters were bothered a good deal by a weevil, which, to a great extent, spoiled the crops. This year the weevil is being battled quite successfully. The plants are sprayed early in the morning with a coat of calcium arsenate. The calcium arsenate is in the form of a dust and settles on the plants which are still damp from the morning dew. The only other enemy which the company has to contend with is the frost which often times spoils a good crop.

Superintendent H. W. Nelson says that when the plant is at the peak of operations there are about 250 women and 75 men employed. The season lasts from the early part of September until the 15th of December.

SANTA ANA GUARDSMEN OFF SATURDAY FOR ENCAMPMENT AT DEL MONTE FOR 15 DAYS

Three commissioned officers and 66 men, 100 per cent of Company F, national guard, will leave Santa Ana tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., for the annual encampment of the 160th Infantry at Del Monte, planning to be gone for 15 days, Capt. Donald Winans, of Company F, announced today.

Living an outdoor life, keeping regular hours, developing leadership, through drill, parades and athletics, the men are looking forward to plenty of diversion also throughout the training period. Teaching the principle of personal cleanliness is one of the important aims of the camp.

An advance detail left Santa Ana last night for Del Monte to prepare for the arrival of the company. First class privates William Trusty, Furney Lucas and Robert Nelson are expected to arrive at Del Monte today to get the camp kitchen ready for turning out plenty of flapjacks and to receive supplies from the presidio at Monterey.

The remainder of the company will form at the armory at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, spend half a day in preparing the equipment for the camp, and leave at 1:30 on two special Pacific Electric cars for Los Angeles. The men will report at the state armory in Exposition park.

After dinner at the armory, the company will participate in a public regimental review of the 160th Infantry. Captain Winans urges friends and families of the men to be present at the review, after which the unit will leave for Del Monte on three sections of a special Southern Pacific train.

The camp is on the polo grounds at Del Monte and visitors from Santa Ana always are welcome. Winans declared. The men will have a chance to take several side trips, for they will be off duty from Saturday noon to Monday morning during the week-ends. They will be entertained nightly in the Y club house on the grounds. The Del Monte hotel and the surrounding beaches are expected to furnish plenty of diversion for the company.

The regiment will muster 55 officers and 1100 men at the camp, Captain Winans stated. Pay, transportation and meals will cost approximately $50 per man for the 15 day period it is estimated.

The following men will leave Santa Ana tomorrow for Del Monte:

Captain, Donald L. Winans; First Lieutenant, Charlton J. Waters; Second Lieutenant, Hugh K. Osborn; First Sergeant, Albert M. Wunderlich; Sergeants, Washington M. Barker, Vernon A. Heckart, William A. Stump, Oscar L. Matthews, Jr., Charles W. Nelson, William R. McCament, Reginald M. Hartley, Corporals, Albert H. Tompkins, George H. Strachan, Jessie L. Haddock, Jean D. ure ground of the United States, he being shot for the movies by Ralph Ince, well-known director. While in New York, Ince and his attractive wife, Lucila Mendez, are occupying a suite at the Ambassador on the same floor and near the rooms occupied by Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania when she visited New York. Every morning at eight, Ince's car, trailed by those from his company's headquarters and the press, start out for Coney to begin the day's filming. Ince is playing the leading role, that of a Barker, while his wife has the leading feminine role. The story revolves around the love of a wealthy New Yorker for a pretty cashier at one of the park resorts. Lucila Mendez was known to Broadway before she married Ince and went into the pictures. Only a short time before her marriage she starred in "Merry Merry" and "My Girl."

Another picture of New York will be "East Side, West Side," reminiscent of Governor Al Smith's famous campaign song which has to do with "the sidewalks of New York." This story, filmed with Ince, is being filmed with George O'Brien and Virginia Valli as the stars. Prize-fights, politics, old-time bars which figured openly in the political life of the city a few years ago, all are shown in the picture and the story should guarantee that it would be a worthwhile production.

Meantime New York claims a share of attention from Hollywood, due to the fact that Mary Pickford patterned one of the sets of her new picture "My Best Girl," after a room in the home of Mrs. William Sunlight, 1130 Fifth avenue, New York City. Its Georgian architecture featured by a circular hallway, old Colonial paneling and tessellated flooring is said to have appealed to the makers of "My Best Girl" sets.

The stars of the screen are very much on the move these days.

"Mayor" Will Rogers, Beverly Hills, Cal., is heading a delegation aboard three special cars on its way to Washington for filming the exteriors of "A Texas Steer," in which the former lariat thrower of the Follies is star. The train will arrive in Washington Aug. 26, stopping at Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, Columbus, Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York City. The Duncan Sisters, who made a successful invasion of New York in 1923, coming here to make a success of "Topsy and Eva" after it had taken hold successfully in Chicago have arrived here, this time to help make successful their screen version of the same piece. Their screen work, which is shown along with personal appearances of the two sisters, opened Aug. 6 at the Rivoli theater.

Reginald Denny, Universal star, also is traveling, he and Mrs. Denny having begun a vacation trip to Europe.

Twin sisters, each 5 feet 3 3/4 inches tall and weighing 117 pounds, will play the leading feminine roles in the next Education-al-Lupino Lane comedy. Both have brown hair and blue eyes and the tone of their voices is so similar it is difficult for those in the company to tell which one is speaking when they are together. Their twin sister musical act was given on the Orpheum circuit for some time.

These MOVIE PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm in all his glory or General Pershing exhibiting his best detachments to a visiting French marshal could have no reason for greater pride than the management of several Broadway movie houses over the smart salutes, the military precision of their ushers, rigged up in carefully tailored uniforms liberally splashed with braid. You may encounter a squad of them, or what looks more like a small company if you go into one of Broadway's bigger houses. Their grammar must be perfect as they direct you to a seat and their swagger must be the nth degree of that commodity. Every week they go through military drill, it is said, and the one who doesn't "snap it up" for his commanding officer may find himself out of a job.

Recently the hardened youths of the "Hell's Kitchen" area, not far from the new Paramount theater building, decided to wait for the departure of the handsomely dressed ushers at the Paramount. They were prepared to maul the movie militarists as they left the theater. Overwhelmed by mere force of numbers the tougher element was put to route after the otherwise perfectly behaved masters of the seat stubs had succeeded in bruising several noses.

Town Talk

By C. F. S.

The Register's announcement of the installation of a modern 48-page rotary recalls the days when we had our first introduction to an old Washington hand press, later to an old Prouty cylinder, when the motive power was an old Senegambian from one of the slave states.

The longer Sambo worked the stronger he got. We used to fold the papers by hand and delivered them by foot.

There hasn't been much advancement made in that method of distribution. Sometimes our subscribers got the paper on the front porch and occasionally through the front window. Subscribers were no different then. Complaint reached the boss and was relayed to the carrier on his arrival home, and we knew that out of our dollar per week we would have very little left after the window pane was replaced.

Retrospectively we are now convinced, after these many years of observation and meditation that the average boy of today would get a fair rating compared with the kids of our time.

When I visit Bill McKay's office it amuses me to see some of the rules, regulations and warnings, some similar to those we used to read and disobey. But there is one feature that is different—and that is the punctuality of delivery and the heavy expense involved to place the daily product in the hands of the subscriber.

If you want to find out just how secure your social standing is, meet with a crushing financial reverse and you will get the answer without any words being spoken.

Ever hear him? An optimist is a man who buys an oil unit and then, before there is any production, sits down to figure out that so many barrels per day at so much per barrel will return dividends each month amounting to so many dollars; that the house can be refurnished for an approximate sum; a diamond similar to Mrs. Blank's will cost several thousand; the fare to Europe and return is so much—and then his company sends him an "assessment due" notice.

Did you ever have your grandson or some other grandson look up into your eyes in a most appealing manner, along about the time when the sandman was due, and ask you to tell him a bedtime story and you disappointed him by replying you did not know any? Don't do it again. He'll find out later you're a liar.

The lost baby case has collapsed. Distracted mother has sent Watson a curt note to the effect that boy arrived home the following morning; that she was 24 years old and that no gentleman asks a lady's age. So that's that.

On our way down town this morning we encountered Guy Gilbert, who asked if we wanted to take a ride.

"Can't. Got a thousand things to do."

"Go to —, then," said Guy.

Our reply was that we ex-

SHOES COST TO BUSINESS MAN
$40 PER YEAR

The average Santa Ana business man spends more than $40 per year on business shoes, according to Al Lloyd, shoe artist, of the Joe Steele barber shop, 308 North Sycamore street.

Lloyd estimates that the average business man in Santa Ana wears two pairs of shoes per year. Most of them, of course, he explains, have more shoes, but a good pair of business shoes should last six months.

Queer to state, the biggest part of the cost of shoes is in keeping up appearances. Lloyd declares that good business shoes may be purchased at from $5 to $7 per pair, making the cost of the two pairs of shoes approximately $10 to $14 per year.

The average business man gets a shine at least three times every week, Lloyd declares.

"Of course there are a lot of people that get a shine every day. I have a number of regular customers. These people never ask for a shine, I give them one whenever I see they need it," he said.

While the cost of a shine is only 15 cents many persons pay 25 cents, according to Lloyd. "The shine artist bases his average figures on the 15 cent shine, and the average number of shines at three per week."

His figures show that if during the 52 weeks in a year a business man would buy two pairs of shoes costing $14, he would get 166 shines during the year at a cost of $24.90 for the shines. Hence the cost of the shoes and the cost of the upkeep of appearances would amount to $38.90 per year for business shoes. Shoe strings and other incidentals would more than make up the $40 per year.

Kitshi Manido Will Open
This Evening Before
Laguna Residents

Tonight, with the opening of the Laguna Beach pageant Kitshi Manido, Laguna Beach will be embarked upon the most intense entertainment program in its history. With the opening tonight, citizens of the seaside resort undertook their third big entertaining program to be started this week.

Sunday the annual Laguna Beach art exhibit opened. Wednesday the third annual Laguna Beach Fiesta opened.

The Fiesta will close tomorrow night with a grand ball. Miss Charlotte Browne, queen of the fiesta will be in charge. The fiesta has featured days of '49, typical Spanish parades and other events during the past three days.

The Laguna Beach pageant is being produced for the second time in the art colony. More than 100 local citizens take part in the production. Six years ago it was given for the first time. Since that time Isaac Frazee has given the pageant each year in the hills near Escondido. This year he again brought the pageant to Laguna Beach.

The pageant stage is located in what is known as Fairy Woods, on the Laguna Beach-Santa Ana highway about a quarter of a mile from Laguna Beach proper. Seats for more than 3000 persons have been erected on the hillside, and a small clearing in the eucalyptus grove is the stage. The grove of giant trees forms a wonderful background. Some interesting effects in lighting and in the production of the play itself have been made possible through the contour of the surrounding hills.

Celebrities from all sections of Southern California, including newspaper critics and artists will be among those to view the production tonight.

The cast of the pageant has been carefully selected and drilled for the past several weeks. Princess Tsianina, who has sung before the crowned heads in Europe, and who is the only Indian singer to ever travel with Cadman, is one of the leading stars of the production.

Chief Yowlache, another noted Indian singer and motion picture ac-

TWENTY NEW COURSES TO BE ADDED TO SANTA ANA JUNIOR COLLEGE DURING NEXT YEAR

Giving the Santa Ana college a wider scope of instruction than the majority of junior colleges in Southern California, 20 new courses, in almost every department of the institution, will be open to students returning in September, McKee Fisk, assistant dean, announced today.

Educators in the east already have expressed surprise, declared Fisk, at the range of studies offered to students in the college here, and the addition of the new classes will give local students a still greater opportunity for education.

The addition of boxing and wrestling swimming and tennis to the offerings of the physical education department is expected to meet with approval among the male students. Heretofore the college boys have had only the opportunity of general gymnasium work and the introduction of facilities for specialization is bound to meet with approval, said Fisk. The women, on the other hand, will in the future, devote their first college semester to a general course in hygienic gymnastics, specializing only in the latter part of the year.

The art department is among the most favored in the addition of new courses and has added another semester to its course in history and appreciation of art, together with two new full year courses, graphic representation, and lettering. The second half of the latter course is devoted mainly to the subject of commercial art.

Music receives an added impetus in the inauguration of two courses for individual instruction, one for the piano and one for other instrumental music. In addition to the vocal course offered in the past, an advanced course in voice culture will be on the list this year.

An innovation which is designed to extend the scope of the college's service is a course in home management offered especially for married women. Instruction will be given on Wednesday afternoon every week, thus enabling home-keepers to attend.

The art of acting will be the subject of instruction in one of the new public speaking department courses. The classes will give public presentations of three plays each year, including Shakespeare, Ibsen and one modern play. The students will also delve into the mysteries of lighting, scenery and costumeing.

Another course to make its initial appearance in this department is called principles of argumentation, and will embrace the analysis of evidence brief drawing, phrasing of debatable propositions and practice in inter-collegiate debating.

Commerce work will be augmented by a course in office practice including experience in operating office machines, and actual work in the school offices.

The English department will offer a new course in which American literature will be studied through consideration of several important authors of the period before 1890. Another new course will offer opportunity for analyzing the modern novel.

A year of advanced work will be added to the machine shop work, while a course in advanced linotype operation will be offered by the printing department.

A course in ethics will be added to the studies in philosophy and a study of applied psychology will be introduced in the latter department.

General zoology, geology and the animal biology will increase the number of science courses offered, enabling the student to make a wide choice of scientific subjects. Two years of study in chemistry, physics, or zoology will be possible with the addition of these classes.

The vocational lectures given by representatives of the various professions open to the college man or woman, will be continued in the coming year. The college is planning to increase the scope and service of its vocational guidance so that each individual may receive the best advice possible in preparing for practical life.

THEY'LL BE AT COUNTY FAIR

Miss Norma Larson, of Garden Grove, gave "Chieftain," prize goat, everything tonsorial except a manicure, as she made him ready for the Orange County Fair.

MARRIED WOMEN CAN HANDLE
THEIR BANK ACCOUNTS MUCH BETTER THAN SINGLE GIRLS

Despite the fact that single girls who earn their own living are surrounded by an atmosphere of business every day, married women, occupied with household cares, manage their bank accounts in a more businesslike manner, investigations in Santa Ana banks revealed today.

The sight of an alluring dress, bankers believe, seldom fails to cause a flurry in the single girls' bank figures, even though the budget is juggled all out of shape to find a place for the unforeseen expenditure.

The new dress may cause just as great a flurry for the married lady but it is probable that the excitement is entirely mental.

The housewife is far more likely to respect the laws laid down by the budget, it was pointed out. Instead of a new dress she is likely to purchase a new covering for the kitchen floor.

Of course the more gaily dressed bachelor girl may eventually balance the budget by dieting on cheese and crackers for a few weeks, thereby achieving the double advantage of new dress and a reduced waist line.

The mother of a family, however, would have trouble in imposing the same diet on her household in order to finance a new evening gown.

Strange as it may seem, Charles Griffing, of the Pacific Southwest Bank, declares that the married girls are the most persistent offenders when it comes to over-drawing their accounts. This may sound paradoxical, but it isn't.

Most husbands and wives, he declares, have joint checking accounts at the bank. Therein lies the cause of the trouble, for friend husband is said to be notorious for drawing checks without telling his spouse. In the long run he is just as much to blame as she, Griffing admitted. But it works both ways and the head of the house may himself overdraw because of an unknown check drawn by his wife.

The joint account may seem to be the cause of more trouble than it is worth. But Griffing explained that it is used because the money is payable to the survivor without any legal proceedings.

That the single girls also make fewer and less conservative withdrawals was asserted by Griffing. Many married ladies deal actively in stocks and bonds, he said, but prefer bonds because of their greater safety. Women are cautious, he declared, and many of them use exceptional judgment.

Accounts Fewer
The unmarried ladies occasionally put away five or ten dollars a month, he said, either in a savings account or in a stock investment of some sort. But their savings accounts are fewer in number than those of the married women.

C. L. Cotant, vice president of the Bank of Italy, gives the working girls a better record, however, and explained that they are improving in thrift. He believes the training given in the schools, designed to inspire saving, is producing results in the present generation of girls who support themselves.

Cotant agrees, on the whole, that the housewives manage their accounts in a better manner. The presence of a husband to call their attention to the desirability of accuracy, he believes, is one reason for this condition.

He asserted that the number of women trading actively on the stock market is surprisingly large. Some ladies, he recalled, carry exceptionally good lists of stocks and bonds and in many cases show better judgment in the choice of their lists than is shown by many men. They are willing to accept a lower rate of interest in order to gain a wide margin of safety, he explained.

The size of checking accounts, according to Griffing, is becoming smaller year by year. Many families, he asserted, who have plenty of money, only carry a few hundred dollars on which to draw. The remainder they keep invested or in a savings account. As the interest matures on their investments, they transfer a portion of it to their checking accounts. They feel, said Griffing, that they might as well get the benefit of the interest as well as the bank.

Dr. W. F. Kistingler will be in his office in Spurgeon Bldg. beginning Thursday, Aug. 11th.

ELEVATOR MEN
CONFESS THEY

Must Be Traveling Bureau
Of Information and to

CONFIDENT OF ALL THEIR PASSENGERS

Hear Troubles of Others
So Have No Time for Problems of Their Own

"Going up?" "Going down?" These words, in an intonation a cross between a question and a statement, are spoken so many times a day by those who pilot the elevators on their journeys up and down that it would be small wonder if elevator men do not murmur them in their sleep.

The elevator man is patient and long suffering. He is used to being asked all sorts of questions and he answers them to the best of his ability, no matter how far out of his line they may be.

And the weather—Well, as a matter of course, everyone confides their opinions of the current weather to the elevator man. Of course he is not to blame if it is too hot or too cool, but it is a relief to tell him about it.

But the elevator man does not mind. He really doesn't mind anything if you will just tell him your floor before you reach it. He doesn't mind even this reamsness, unless you are one of the few passengers he carries who expect him to be a mind reader as well as an elevator man.

Every day at the First National bank building R. V. Cox hoists humanity to the levels they want to attain. "We carry about 1000 passengers a day," said Mr. Cox, "on an average 135 people an hour."

"Of course I never have to ask anyone in the house their floor, but a lot of people concentrate intently on something when they ride in an elevator. They arrive at their floor and look almost dazed. Women absent-mindedly walk away with some other woman's husband and start in surprise when they happen to glance at their companion."

"People ask us all sorts of questions, even ask us to cash checks. Interesting conversations? Oh, yes just like parts of stories, only there isn't any end to them for us. All of the stories we hear are continued somewhere else and we never hear what happened next."

"A woman confides that she comes all the way to Santa Ana from Los Angeles to buy her shoes. Isn't that too funny for words?" she asks. A man with a toothache wants sympathy from someone. He's going to the dentist's and is just tickled to death about it.

"No, men don't take off their hats so much in elevators anymore. Some do, of course. Some women seem to expect it and mention the lapse sotto voce to a companion or even to the elevator man."

"Children are seldom frightened at their first ascent and when they are, they usually lose their fear almost at once and want to ride more."

"A woman rode up with me the other day," said Mr. Cox. "I had her mystified. Everyone in the car happened to be those who belonged here and I just let them on no one calling a floor, and my not asking. She said she didn't see how I did it."

BROGDEN CONCERN
WINS COURT SUIT

The validity of the patent for the borax treatment of oranges to prevent blue mold, known as the Brogdex system, used by Mutual Orange Distributors packing houses in California, has been established in a suit filed recently in Delaware against Florida orange associations.

The Brogdex company brought suit charging the American Fruit Growers incorporated, with infringement of patent. The patent was granted the Southern California company some time ago and covers the treatment of oranges to prevent blue mold decay. The suit asked an injunction to prevent the Florida companies from using the patent and also asked damages. The suit was filed in Delaware, the domicile state of the eastern company.

A decision has been handed down by Federal Judge Hugh M. Morris, of the United States District court for the district of Delaware, favoring the California company. The decision will mean that the Florida companies will discontinue the use of the patent.

Indians Escape
Serious Injury

Princess Tsianina, White Bird and Chief Yowlache, principals in the pageant which opened at Laguna Beach last night, and David Baltz, husband of Princess Tsianina, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday while on their way to appear at the Santa Ana Lions club. A broken steering knuckle on their car sent the machine into a ditch near Irvine but because the auto was traveling at a slow rate of speed, no one was hurt.

The disabled machine was towed back to Laguna Beach and the trip to Santa Ana given up.

building has had his ups and downs in the elevator of that building for four years. Mr. Baldwin agrees with Mr. Cox that the people he carries are in general pretty nice people. "Once and a while," he said, "you run across a crabby person, someone who is 'peevish' if they haven't told you their floor and you go beyond it. I just take them back without a word. An elevator man has to be patient. It is true that some folk think an elevator man should have all sorts of information. They ask you to change money, sometimes. But as a whole they're pretty reasonable and nice people."

Observation will prove that an elevator man takes an interest in his passengers. He knows the people in the offices of his building. He greets the sun-burned vacationist returning to his fetters. He helps the lame and ailing. He knows all about the pretty stenographer's coming wedding, and the big deal that went through this afternoon on the floor. He's warm sometimes himself, too, but you'll never know it.

What with calling floors and watching his passengers' steps, soothing some, smiling all day, never losing his temper, the elevator man has no troubles of his own. So if he isn't busy, and you stop to chat a minute with him before entering the elevator, tell him yours.

Here is where the editor got hold of our copy.

We visited a few minutes this morning with a barefoot boy. He looked good to us. Whenever we want to recall our boyhood we take off our left shoe and look at a souvenir which recalls the days when the splinters were no different than they are now, and when a broken piece of glass cut just as deep as it does now.

Those were the days of remodeled trousers, an occasional glass of red lemonade, an apple and a watermelon from the other fellow's farm, hayrack rides and bobbed parties, mixed candy for Christmas and a "lickin'" when we went swimmin'.

Give us the good old days with all their simplicity, so the youth of today can see what it's missing.

Otto S. Russell's resignation as pastor of the First Baptist church after an efficient and undisturbed pastorate of fourteen years, has been the subject for favorable comment.

When men are with us in public life for fourteen years it gives opportunity to learn values and true character, and while this is hardly within the authority of Town Talk, the opportunity to express an appreciation is at least availed and we hope will be permitted.

Too often the work of the good man is forgotten and the sins of a bad man remembered.

Pete Belssel had a tooth extracted today and it required thirty minutes of our valuable time to convince him that the cavity was NOT as large as the Grand Canyon.

Orthopedic surgery now uses sun baths as being efficacious for correction of deformed or irregular limbs. Few ladies have found it necessary to take the treatments.

As a hotel the Orange county jail is irrefutably lost. The bum's amalgamated order of "Better and More Food" has adopted resolutions of censure.

A reduction from 16 to 14 cents per meal, when it is possible to find other enterprising jail managements willing to spend as much as 18 cents, has placed our county hostelry at a decided disadvantage.

If the supervisors will reduce the food allowance another two cents perhaps we can lose all of the trade and thereby reduce the tax rate. We stand—when not slipping—for an economic administration.

Love is blind, but the little cuss has enough courage to drive an automobile. You see him almost every day with his strong arm around her slender waist, her sullen head nestling on his shoulder and dreamy eyes trying to convey some symptoms of intelligence.

Every time we see "the clinch" performance we always surmise it is at the risk of some other driver's neck. Having thus expressed ourselves, it is easy for the reader to conclude that we are an old man without romance or sentiment and arrived at that more practical age of "Safety First."

Our only sympathetic companions are members of the traffic squad.

AT THE THEATERS

S. A. Night Will Be August 30 At 'King Of Kings'

A special excursion will be run by the Pacific Electric from Santa Ana to Grauman's Chinese theater, in Hollywood, Tuesday night, August 30, when members of the chamber of commerce and various service clubs will attend the performance of "The King of Kings" and Grauman's prologue.

Cecil B. DeMille spent an entire year and over $2,000,000 in the filming of "The King of Kings" and it has been hailed as one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced. Sid Grauman's prologue, showing 11 tableaux from the scriptures is an added feature, and is worth coming miles to see. A cast and chorus of more than 300 persons appear in the prologue.

Theater seats and Pacific Electric excursion tickets for "The King of Kings" will be on sale next week at Mateer's Drug store here.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Some of the most beautiful sequences ever seen in a western picture are shown in "The Broncho Twister," which has its first showing at the West Coast-Walker theater today.

This latest Tom Mix starring vehicle is a thrilling tale of western ranges, that is far above the average in story material and plot construction. In fact, it is one of the best motivated films shown locally in some time.

It is a colorful romance of adventure with many nerve tingling situations, moments of high suspense and comedy of a very high order. Mix is even more daring than usual. In fact, some of his stunts appear dangerous in the extreme.

The backgrounds are beautiful especially the scenes showing the old Spanish style of home in southern California and also the settings of a fiesta where the ladies are dressed in the garments of Old Spain.

Playing opposite Mix is Helene Costello, who not only makes a very dainty heroine, but is also a decidedly accomplished actress, admirably suited to the role.

Confidence Man Is Busy In City

Police today are searching for a confidence man who told his clients that he had a wealth of stolen goods on his hands that he would sell them at cheap prices and who collected a number of down payments and then failed to return.

Officers have not been supplied with the names of all persons who were defrauded, they said, but there were at least a half dozen.

Two of the victims reported that the man approached them, offering to sell old clothing, which he said had been stolen. He offered, they said, to supply them with liquor or overcoats in case other clothing was not needed.

A good description of the man was obtained from some of his "victims" who were said to have donated $10 to $20 as "advanced payments."

DIRECTORS OF FAIR WILL GO TO BARBECUE

As guests of Roy Baker at a barbecue at the Baker Ranch Sunday afternoon, officers and directors of the Orange county fair association, their wives, and members of the Orange county board of supervisors will leave early Sunday by motor stage for Saugus.

According to A. M. Stanley, fair board secretary, the Orange county party will be joined by prominent Los Angeles horsemen, including W. W. Mines, Marco Hellman, "Snowy" Baker, president of the Los Angeles Horse Show Association, Mat S. Cohen, secretary, and Elbert Defebach, manager of the Orange county horse show.

The following Orange county officials and fair association members are scheduled to attend the barbecue at the Baker ranch, leaving the fair grounds at 9 o'clock Sunday morning: County Supervisors William Shoemaker, Anaheim; Willard Smith, of Orange; John Mitchell, of Garden Grove; George Jeffrys, of Irvine.

H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, president of the fair board, and family; Geo. T. Kellogg, and family of Yorba Linda; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Nelson of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. John Ragan, of Villa Park; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hunt, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Johnson, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, of Garden Grove; S. W. Stanley, of Tustin; Roger Pohlman, of Anaheim; Judge W. H. Thomas and wife, of Santa Ana; Mayor F. L. Furinton, of Santa Ana; Mrs. H. H. Lewis, Mrs. F. McConnell and Mrs. H. Farnsworth of Garden Grove; and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stanley, Santa Ana.

WAHLBERG TO TALK ON TREE BRACINGS

Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor will speak on wire bracing of walnut trees and will give Orange county growers advice on caring for the bracing of trees for next year, in a radio talk over KWTC tonight at 7:15 o'clock. It was announced today.

Breakage of walnut trees has been the heaviest in the history of the county this year and much interest has been aroused in the bracing question. Many Orange county ranchers are expected to listen in on the talk tonight.

tor will take a leading role in the pageant.

Arlitta, the youngest American prima donna on the stage today, will alternate with Tsalmina in the leading role. It is reported. George E. Thompson, of Santa Ana, former actor, will alternate with Chief Yowlache.

The plot of the production is based upon the life of the Indians. It deals with the upbringing of the Indian boy, the moulding of his life, his life work and his old age. It is declared by critics to be a masterpiece of Indian pageantry.

Special nights have been set aside for the people of various communities to attend the pageant. Santa Ana people will be invited to attend the production on August 20, by Mrs. E. L. Crawford, hostess for the town. Hostesses in other cities will notify their respective towns of the nights they are to attend.

Many characteristic Indian customs are expected to be woven into the pageant through the introduction of the leading Indian players. The pageant will be concluded Aug. 31.

"Buy Newcom's Big N Mash."

Such was the fate meted out to William Collier Jr., and Greta Nissen in "The Lady of the Harem," which opens at the Yost Broadway tonight.

Briefly the story is this: The glittering city of Khorasan suffers countless cruelties under the rule of an oppressive sultan. But amid the oppression there is one who lives tranquilly—Ernest Torrence, the confectioner.

William Collier Jr., from the hills beyond Mosul, comes in search of his sweetheart, Greta Nissen, dragged away from him by the tyrant's soldiers. In the brilliant, exotic slave market he finds her, only to realize she is being purchased for the sultan's harem.

That he may save her, Collier joins a band of citizens who have been reduced to beggars by unreasonable taxation. They pledge allegiance.

Disguised as merchants, the sultan and members of his court gain entrance to the beggar's rendezvous and discover Collier as the leader.

Among the scenes that follow are a tremendous oriental bacchanal, the swimming of a wide river by 3000 men and a mighty medieval battle scene.

LOCAL SINGERS MAY ENTER IN RADIO CONTEST

With 26 of the states under complete committee organization for participation in the National Radio Audition of The Atwater Kent Foundation, the Foundation has announced that official recognition of local or community committees, now being organized, will be in effect within a few days.

This announcement will carry encouragement to aspiring young men and women singers in the communities of Southern California, who have been waiting for the organization of local committees to which they may make application for admission to the rosters of contestants. The committee for Southern California, of which Carrie Jacobs Bond of Los Angeles, composer of the popular song, "A Perfect Day" is chairman, is now working out detailed arrangements for the holding of local auditions, from each of which will be certified one young man and one young woman winner to take part in the state audition for the southern half of the state in October. It is expected that several Orange county singers will compete.

The State Audition will be broadcast from station KNX of the Los Angeles Evening Express at Hollywood, under the direct management of Guy Earle, president of the Express. Mayor Rogers is manager of the station, assisted by Glen Rice, and will be director of publicity for the southern district audition, assistant publicity director will be John Swallow, Radio Editor of the Express.

The winning of awards totaling $17,500 will be the aim of the contestants. First place winners—a man and a woman—will each receive a gold decoration; $5,000 in cash and two years' tuition in a leading American conservatory; second place winners will be $2,000 in cash and one year's tuition to each winner; third place awards, $1,000 and one year's tuition to each; fourth place, $500 cash and fifth place $250 cash to each.

LOST ANYTHING?

Station KPCC, San Francisco, has inaugurated a "Lost and Found" department. This department will be conducted like that of newspaper columns and will cooperate with the Police Department in sending out calls for lost persons and materials.

UNCLE JOHN CAN'T GET AWAY

Who said those "Children's Hours" aren't popular? They're so popular that the "Uncles" who sponsor them can't appear on the streets for fear of being deluged by a mass of their little fans. That's what happened to "Uncle" John Daggett of KHJ, at Los Angeles, when he let his children know he was going to Honolulu. The ship strained under the farewell they gave him.

ONE LANGUAGE TO BE RESULT OF RADIO USE

LONDON Aug. 12.—A world linked as a unit by one language, and that English, has been predicted many a time since the innovation of radio. Now, however, it is foreseen with mingled dread and apprehension lest the flowery languages of other countries become extinct.

C. E. Montague, famous British journalist and author, expresses this dread. His fear is the result of a declaration on the part of another famous Englishman, Sir Israel Gollancz, one of the foremost authorities on the English language.

Sir Israel came out the other day with the prediction that radio will make English the universal language.

"The main fact in support of this idea," he remarked, "is that the race for supremacy between Great Britain and America—and whichever wins, the effect upon the English language will be substantially the same."

"Inevitable," he says. "As radio reception improves over greater distances, so more and more foreign countries will listen to British and American programs, with the inevitable consequence that a new and insistent demand for a knowledge of English will be created among the people of other nations."

And so English, not Esperanto or any other artificial language, will be spoken the world over, Sir Israel contends.

But to what a loss, replies Montague. "When I hear that broadcasting is likely to kill out the splendid diversity and wealth of means for giving self-expression and free growth to the various and delicious raciness of mankind, I can't believe that so good a cause can have so bad an effect," he cries.

Mustn't Abuse Power

"It takes all sorts to make a world," he goes on, "and this is as true of languages as of men."

"When I hear that wireless must, by a sort of steam roller process, squash the life out of the organisms that are producing the great national literatures of the outer world, each in its own different way indispensable to the mental life of the whole, I reflect that though the future masters of radio may have a giant's strength they are not likely to use it like a second-rate giant."

So Montague assures himself the languages of the world will go on, giving us their valuable contributions, despite the universal growth of English-controlled radio.

Erwin Will Not Be Disqualified Because Of Stop

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 12.—W. E. Easterwood Jr., donor of a $25,000 prize for a three-stop flight from Dallas to Hong Kong, today said he would not disqualify Capt. William P. Erwin because of Erwin's forced landing at Beaumont, Calif. Easterwood offered to make the concession inasmuch as Erwin also planned to compete in the Dole flight contest from San Francisco to Honolulu.

If he was required to return to Dallas for another start in the Easterwood contest he would be unable to reach California in time to hop off in the Dole flight.

French Law Makes Marriages Easier

PARIS, Aug. 12.—A bill just passed by the French parliament greatly simplifies the marriage of foreigners. Hitherto written consent has been required from parents of contracting parties. Under the new law this can be dispensed with upon a formal declaration that both bride and bridegroom are more than 25 years of age.

DANA POINT BRANCH MANAGER IS NAMED

E. B. Curtis, formerly of Los Angeles, has been appointed local branch manager for S. H. Woodruff, developer of Dana Point, and has opened an office in the Rossmore hotel.

According to Curtis, 90 per cent of the lots in the first unit of the 1400-acre subdivision have been sold.

Eight miles of sewer lines and seven miles of water pipes have been placed in the tract, Curtis says. Contract for a $50,000 apartment house has been let and a 100-room hotel is scheduled to be started within the next 10 days, the local manager declared.

The subdivision will be unique in that Woodruff will not allow streets to be torn up after the improvements, such as gas, water and sewer pipes are in, Curtis says.

A London hotel keeper has finished his dining rooms in primrose and blue because these colors cause the diners to relax and be cheerful and hungry.

1928 Fords Will Travel Over 65 Miles Per Hour

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 12.—The Ford automobile, which will be placed on the market in a few weeks, will make more than 65 miles an hour without discomfort to the driver and passengers, according to an announcement from Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company.

Ford said he expects to manufacture the new model in "greater numbers than any manufacturer has ever attempted before."

Questions regarding the price and gear shift of the new car were left unanswered by young Ford, who instead referred to the new model as "a mighty good little car."

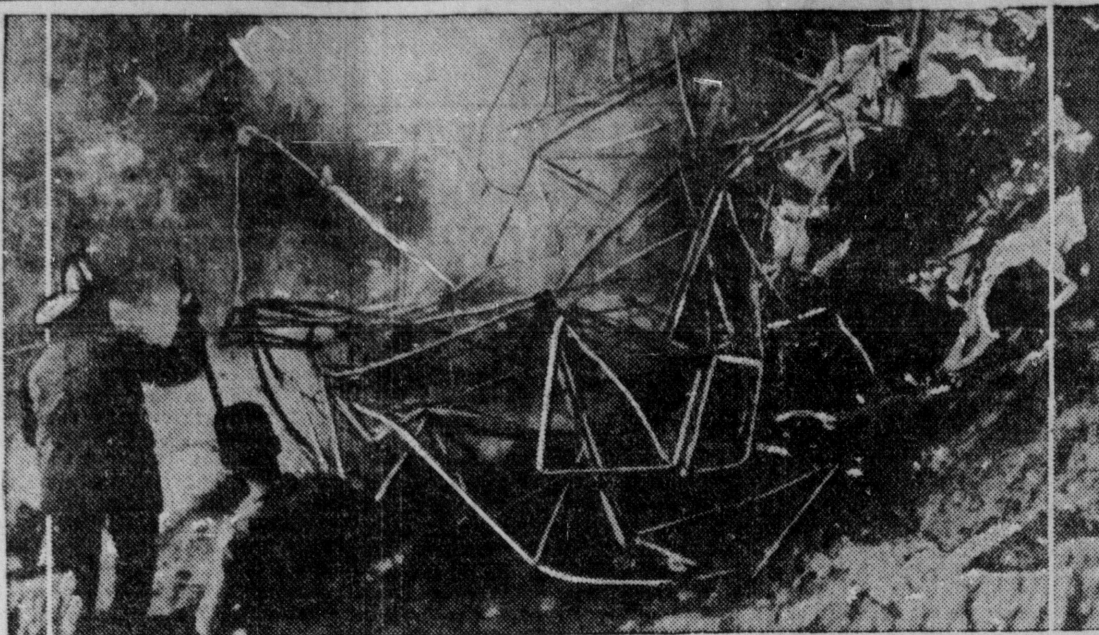

Moonlight Bathing Popular In France

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Moonlight baths are becoming almost as popular as sunbaths at European resorts this summer. The only people who have objected are casino proprietors, who expect tourists to spend their time at the green tables after the sun has gone down and everyone has dined.

At Deauville, Trouville and other resorts within easy distance of Paris, the casinos have rarely been crowded this summer on the few warm moonlight nights the weather man has provided. The beaches, on the other hand, formerly left to the waves at night, have been crowded with bathers, ukulele players and singers.

ALL THAT'S LEFT OF BREA MONOPLANE

This is what the Brea low wing monoplane, especially constructed for the Dole Hawaiian flight, looked like less than a half hour after it had left San Diego for Oakland to enter the race. Lts. George Covell and R. S. Waggner were killed in the crash. The ship was designed by Fred Thaheld, in Brea. The flyers had drawn the number 13 in the Dole race.

Household Hints

FUEL SAVERS

To save the kitchen heat and cut down gas or electric bills get duplicate or triplicate saucepans, with covers that fit tightly.

POPULAR SCREENS

Three-fold screens are coming into popularity again. The smartest ones are neutral colored, with quaint prints decorating them.

EGG STAINS

Silver spoons or forks, used for eating eggs, should be rubbed with salt before washing, as egg stains will not come off with water.

STENCILED RUGS

Plain grass rugs can be stenciled to match the pattern on walls or furniture with the new washable paints on the market.

ICE SAVINGS

If you will wrap ice in several thicknesses of newspaper before putting in the box, you will find it will last much longer.

SERVICEABLE BEAN-POT

The old brown earthen bean-pot, if it has the usual spout, makes an ideal beverage pitcher because, once cooled, it stays that way.

EGG DISH

Diced hard-boiled eggs, surrounded by noodles and covered with white sauce, topped by ground peanuts, make an ideal baked dish for supper.

FRUIT PANCAKES

Pancakes, made larger than usual and rolled up with fresh applesauce or other sauce in them, make a fine supper dessert.

MOULDY WEATHER

Bread-boxes and cake-boxes can be kept sweeter in hot, damp weather that encourages mould, if they are lined with brown paper.

FUR STORAGE

If you have not stored your furs be sure that they have turpentine soaked newspapers wrapped around them during summer months.

SET COLOR

Add a half ounce of sugar of lead to a gallon of water and soak chintzes, ginghams and other colored cottons one hour to set the color.

SPORTS
OF ALL SORTS

With Lou Gehrig making things decidedly uncomfortable for Babe Ruth in the matter of home runs, he becomes a national figure in sport circles rather than merely first baseman of the New York Yankees.

Such being the case, a story dealing with Gehrig's first appearance with the Yankees is quite timely and of more than passing interest.

Despite the fact that Gehrig was educated at Columbo university and received other degrees than B. B. (Bachelor of Baseball), the New York players get quite a kick out of the following story which Gehrig himself pulled at his own expense.

On the first trip to the New York club of Chicago after Gehrig had joined the team, several of the players were sitting around the lobby discussing a rather sensational game of the day previous in which the Chicago Cubs had won from Pittsburgh in extra innings.

There was a dispute as to who had pitched the game for Chicago, and noticing Gehrig perusing the sports page of a morning paper, one of the players asked Lou who had pitched for Chicago. Glancing at the headline spread across the top of the page, Gehrig replied:

"I guess it was Bruins."

"There is no pitcher by that name with the Cubs," said the other players in a chorus.

"Maybe not," answered Gehrig. "I haven't been in the American league very long and know little or nothing about the National league players, I'm simply judging by the headline here." He showed it to the others and it read:

BRUINS BEAT PIRATES IN EXTRA INNINGS.

Lou didn't go to college for nothing.

Watts Gunn stands a good chance of winning the national amateur meet this year if some other kind entrant eliminates Gunn's fellow-townsmen, Bobby Jones.

Of course, someone will have to eliminate Jones if anybody but Jones is to win, but it is necessary that some other than Gunn do the eliminating.

Simply because Jones is Gunn's bugaboo!

Game to the finish, Gunn is not one to be bluffed out of any match. But when he meets Bobby —then he gets an inferiority complex and, when you think of it, you can't very well blame him.

GROCERYMEN PACK TOO MUCH PUNCH FOR PLATTS, WIN ON STRENGTH OF TWO BIG RALLIES

"Eeny" Wilcox, the "little general" of Santa Ana night baseball, will always have cause to remember two things that came into his life last night—the third inning and the ninth inning. Lincoln park fans who have marveled at the diminutive Platt Silvertown gunner's magic for two seasons saw him batted all over the lot in those two unfortunate frames and drop his first verdict in six weeks to the league-leading Blauer Grocers, 9 to 6.

TROJANS PRINT HALF MILLION GRID TICKETS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—More than half a million printed tickets are being prepared for the 1927 football season at the University of Southern California.

These include season tickets for all games as well as general admission for minor contests and reserved seats for the California and Washington frays. The ticket department of the Trojan offices expects to be open for applications for all game duets near September 1.

Nearly 400,000 fans saw the Trojans play in 10 games last season. An increase of more than 100,000 is expected this season because the Stanford and Notre Dame games, which are played away from

Victory for the Blauers put that club another notch out in front of the boys and made it plain that they are the team to beat for the flag—if they can be beaten. Wilcox hurled scoreless baseball except for the third and ninth but so did his rival, Walt Jordan, and Jordan's ninth inning wasn't as expensive as Wilcox's.

Bingles by Scott, Babcock, Wilcox and Holmes, a pass to Smith and a fielder's choice gave the Platts four runs in the first frame but Jordan settled down after this unsteady beginning and set down his opposition, with the help of some flossy support, the rest of the way until the ninth.

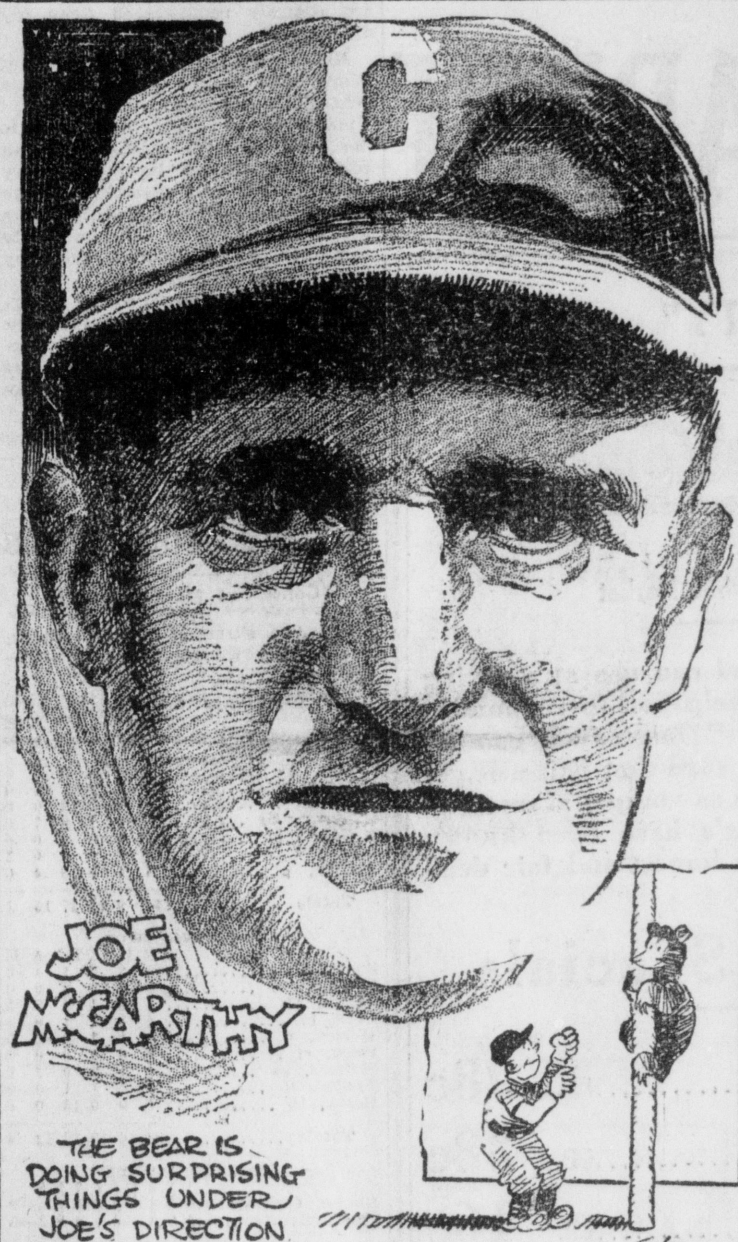

The Blauers hopped on Wilcox for four scores in third. Schuchardt, Preble and Sullivan hitting safely and receiving valuable assistance on their way around the circuit from two Platt errors. The count remained at 4 to 4 until the first of the ninth when, with one dead, Jordan, Schuchardt, Foote, Preble, Sullivan and Hilliard bunched singles to drive in five runs.

The Silvertowns died hard, scoring two in their half on hits by Holmes, Scott and Babcock.

HE GETS CREDIT FOR CUBS' REMARKABLE RACE IN N. L.

Manager Joe McCarthy Has No Team of Stars But It Is Likely to Win National League Rag and Get in World Series Anyway

BY BILLY EVANS

If the Chicago Cubs should win the National league pennant, the victory would be a well deserved tribute to the uncanny ability of Manager Joe McCarthy, former Louisville skipper.

The manager in baseball is a negative quantity unless the material is there. He cannot think for the regulars on the field, neither can he supply base hits in a pinch nor keep the opposition from hitting the ball.

I regard Bill Carrigan as one of the smartest leaders that ever directed a major league ball club. Yet, in charge of the Boston Red Sox this year, a team with limited material, Carrigan has been unable to make much progress. His team is destined to finish in the cellar.

However, there is no denying the fact that certain managers can get better results than others, working with the same material.

His Direction Is Factor

Perusing the box scores of the Chicago Cubs daily and getting a chance to see them in action every now and then, I am firm in the belief that the managerial direction of Joe McCarthy is one of the biggest factors in the remarkable success that the team has enjoyed this year.

When McCarthy was named as manager of the Chicago Cubs for the season of 1926, he brought with him to the National league great fame as a minor league pitcher. But to the veteran players and managers of the organization, he was simply a "busher," who had to prove his worth as a big leaguer.

McCarthy didn't have much to enthuse over when he took charge, aside from pretty good pitching and catching. His infield, outside of Adams at second base was nothing to brag of. He had hardly got settled in his new position when he was called upon to make a decision that undoubtedly had much to do with shaping his career as manager of the Cubs.

Showed Nerve in Pinch

McCarthy and his star pitcher, Grover Cleveland Alexander, just couldn't agree on what constituted proper discipline on the part of a veteran player. As a result of this difference of opinion, McCarthy surprised the baseball world by peddling Alexander to the St. Louis Cardinals. It took a manager who had the courage of his convictions to make such a drastic move.

The shift of Alexander to St. Louis had a beneficial effect in both directions. His fine pitching was the outstanding factor in the winning of the pennant and world championship by the St. Louis Cardinals. As for the Cubs, McCarthy let it be known that he was manager and would brook no

HILL LEADS STAR SLUGGERS; NELSON OUT OF BIG GAMES; ANAHEIM 'GATE' WAS $140

Finishing with a sensational flourish of 16 hits in his last 20 times at bat, Liston ("Memphis") Hill, shortstop, led the Santa Ana All-Stars in slugging during their Orange County Night Baseball league season just terminated, according to statistics compiled today by The Register.

Hill's closing rush entitled him to a season's average of .458, much higher than the rest of his teammates. Bill Foote, the Poly baseball tutor, was second in line with a mark of .383. Horace Snow and John Lutz tied for the third spot at .360 although Lutz played in several more games.

Averages follow:

	G	A	B	R	H	Avg.
Daley	2	7	3	4	571	.371
Hill	13	59	12	27	435	.458
Foote	13	47	14	18	382	.383
J. Lutz	12	50	12	18	360	.360
Snow	9	25	6	9	280	.360
Middlebrook	3	3	0	1	233	.333
Cole	8	23	5	7	204	.325
Reis	14	38	15	17	292	.325
Nelson	13	48	8	14	292	.325
Scott	13	51	7	14	275	.325
Wilcox	13	38	7	10	253	.325
Hitt	7	23	2	6	261	.325
E. Lutz	9	25	6	9	257	.325
Jensen	10	25	1	2	280	.325

The Santa Ana Night Baseball association was enriched by approximately $140 by the second Santa Ana-Anaheim contest. Paid attendance was less than $1 short of the "gate" at the first tiff between the two clubs.

The All-Stars suffered a cruel blow today when Wayne Nelson, the talented flyhawk, was summoned to leave tomorrow with Company P, N. G. C., which goes into two weeks' encampment at Del Monte. Consequently, Nelson will be unable to play in any of the Southern California championship games with Arlington and Long Beach.

Orville Schuchardt, the nimble-footed high school lad, probably will be drafted to fill in at the center field port. "Shoey" can go get 'em with any suburbanite in the league and he is a smart and aggressive on the offense. "John McGraw" Wilcox, master mind of the Stars, may decide, however, to shift Ed Daley into center field and use either Bill Cole or Horace Snow in right field on account of their stick work.

Having completed their schedule with only one defeat, Santa Ana Lions hold the night baseball championship of the Orange County Lions league. The local den has been challenged by the Orange Rotary club, city service club champion of the neighboring city, and an early tiff is expected.

Manager Wilcox didn't shed any

HELEN'S GAME MUCH BETTER AVERS EXPERT

By MARY K. BROWNE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Yesterday in the Forest Hills stadium.

I had my first actual contact with the most powerful game of lawn tennis ever played by a woman. Helen Wills produced that game in our one set practice.

For four months I played against the cleverest, most finished player in the world of lawn tennis—Suzanne Lenglen.

In my early days of tennis, I played against one of the most tenacious and a hard hitter, but from only wing—May Sutton Bundy.

Those three women are certainly the outstanding feminine tennis players of the world. All three have held the championship of all England, virtually the championship of the world. It makes me feel old, indeed, to think that I have literally campaigned with all three of them.

But, never in all my long career have I been up against such hard hitting from the racket of any woman as Helen Wills swept across the net to me yesterday. She literally blew my court to pieces. Many of her shots I never laid my racket on. She was hitting as hard from one side as the other.

We played but one set and it has been proven that several of Helen's matches that she cannot keep up the terrific attack throughout a match. Many of us thought Helen slows up her game

REFEREE'S ACT SURPRISE TO FANS, SCRIBES

Basque Outpointed During Entire Bout But Nobody Sees Low Blow Struck

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The great "fair or foul" controversy, started after the Dempsey-Sharkey fight, was duplicated today.

Amid the boos of dissatisfaction and the cheers of approval from 25,000 spectators at the Yankee stadium last night, Referee Jim Crowley awarded Jack Delaney the fight with Paulino Uzcudun in the seventh round on a foul.

Delaney, who gave up his light heavyweight title to take a chance with the heaves surpassed the Basque during the first six rounds. His heavy blows were countered with powerful but wild swings.

Although Delaney hit the fighter from Spain with all his force during the early rounds, Uzcudun took it smiling. At the end his only damage was a flat and bloody nose.

The opinion of the writer is that Paulino was guilty of a foul only in the event that the referee in a moment of excitement thought Delaney was wearing his trunks as a beard.

Nearly all of the veterans in the press pit thought Crowley, the referee, had disqualified Paulino for hitting on the breaks. Paulino had been warned several times but the referee couldn't speak Spanish and Uzcudun can't understand English.

Crowley, however, said Paulino had hit Delaney four times in the final round.

Delaney had no overpowering reason to accept or want a decision on a foul. He was winning by a mile when that seventh round started.

home, will draw much more than did the California and Oregon Aggie contests on foreign soil last year.

The Trojan schedule follows:
September 24—Occidental at Los Angeles.
October 1—Santa Clara at Los Angeles.
October 8—Oregon Aggies at Los Angeles.
October 15—Stanford at Palo Alto
October 22—California Tech at Los Angeles.
October 29—California at Los Angeles.
November 12—Colorado at Los Angeles.
November 19—Washington State at Los Angeles.
November 26—Notre Dame at Chicago.
December 3—Washington at Los Angeles.

The two capacity crowds in the Coliseum for the Cardinal and Irish battles last season are expected to be repeated this fall for the California and Washington events while the remainder of the Trojan home schedule is more attractive than the smaller game program played in 1926.

GOLF CARDS OF PUGS
Golf scores of fighters are always interesting to fans. In a recent foursome at New York Jack Dempsey shot 115, Jack Delaney shot 104, Dave Shade shot 81 and Leo P. Flynn shot 86. Par for the course was 72.

insubordination. That set him with the rest of the team.

McCarthy Dynamic Personality
McCarthy is a dynamic personality. He has initiative and aggressiveness, with which he combines an excellent inside knowledge of the game. You can see the spirit of McCarthy in the actions of every player in the Cub lineup.

In his first year in the majors with limited material, McCarthy had his club in fourth place at the finish, just seven games behind the pennant-winning Cardinals. The team was never lower than fifth, which can be said of no other team in the race last year. The champion Cardinals at one time were sixth.

This year, by adding a bit of strength here and there, and putting over a deal that brought to him Pitcher Carlson of the Phillies, McCarthy has welded together a fast-stepping confident club that doesn't look so snappy on paper, but goes well on the field. In considering the sensational play of the Chicago Cubs, don't overlook the influence of Manager Joe McCarthy.

because she believes a change in pace is good tactics but her methods carried little finesse, for she would soften her entire game for several rallies rather than combining speed and softness within a rally which when subtly employed, is a fine weapon.

We are now all convinced that when Helen slackens her game she is temporarily winded and she takes a rest period. It is quite obvious that only the strongest Amazon in the world could hit with such power throughout a match. For Helen, it is a physical impossibility.

But when she hits them she literally bowls one over. I never once in my entire tour received one ball from Suzanne's racket which felt as hard. But I received many, many more cleverly placed from Suzanne.

Helen Willis is undoubtedly playing the finest tennis of her life and for the first time I believe she would have a chance against Suzanne.

Helen not only is hitting 50 per cent harder; she is almost playing at closer quarters. She has more imagination and even a touch of humor in her game. I note a decided broadening.

I asked Helen how she accounted for her sudden improvement and she said, "It has come as a result of my three years abroad in competing against the best players in the world and because I have practiced a great deal and am entirely recuperated from my operation."

Helen agreed with me that Wimbledon is the greatest tennis school in the world. It is what Vienna is to opera or Paris to the well dressed woman. Helen Willis has always been extremely reticent and self contained. She concentrated so thoroughly upon the task at hand she scarcely cared to be distracted even by casual conversation.

Helen Willis and Suzanne Lenglen sit unchallenged on the thrones of amateur and professional tennis. How wonderful it would be for the tennis fans if an open meet could be arranged!

JAP EMPEROR IS TEETOTALER: DOESN'T SMOKE

TOKIO, Aug. 12.—It is a little known fact, even within the confines of the Japanese empire, that the emperor of Japan is a staunch teetotaler. On the royal banquet tables not a drop of alcoholic beverage is set. When his majesty entertains others, however, there is the necessary wine, but the customary glasses are not placed before his majesty. He drinks all toasts in aerated or plain water. Furthermore, he is also a non-smoker.

This good example of the youthful mikado has already begun to exert a benign influence over the youth of Japan and many who have been addicted to pay homage at the shrine of Bacchus or to enjoy the fragment weed have eschewed these practices altogether. The 300 special policemen whose duty is to guard the palace precincts day and night, have all taken the pledge and it is rumored that nearly all the palace employees are now total abstainers. The emperor's example further has also had the effect of giving the spreading temperance movement a tremendous impetus.

Dr. W. F. Kistinger will be in his office in Spurgeon Bldg. beginning Thursday, Aug. 11th.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS MAKE READY FOR TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD LATE NEXT MONTH

Heralded as the most pretentious undertaking yet attempted by the Santa Ana Community Players, and with predictions being made that it will attract attention to this city from all over Southern California, the competitive dramatic tournament planned by the local group for September 23 and 24, is arousing enthusiasm and activity among the Santa Ana actors as no dramatic project of the club has done before.

Forming a climax to the struggle for making friends which work with the Community Players at the last seven years, the coming tournament recalls a long line of successful productions by the local artists.

Mrs. Robert Horn, member of the invitation committee, which is one of the busiest in the club at present, outlined today her conception of the player's organization, its aims, obstacles and achievements.

"Just now," writes Mrs. Horn, "we are concerned with our coming tournament of one act plays. We are all so enthusiastic about it ourselves that we want to share our enthusiasm with others."

"We think that the tournament is going to bring us some good entertainment; we think that it is going to fill our empty coffers, and we think that it is going to present a splendid opportunity to us for establishing friendly relations with other community players' clubs."

"We are all hoping that these players will be greeted by a large audience of interested Santa Anans. If the tournament is successful, we will feel that we have taken another step toward a successful, mature Community Players' club."

In endeavoring to interpret the Community Players to the citizens of Santa Ana, Mrs. Horn continues:

Recalls Early Days
"When Gilmore Brown told the story of the Pasadena Community Players last June at a luncheon I attended, I smiled sympathetically as he related the early struggles of that organization. It might have been the story of our own Santa Ana Community Players."

"When he came to the last part of his account, however, I wondered wistfully if we should ever be able to give such a triumphant climax to our own story. For our organization is still in its childhood—its struggling childhood."

"There is intense interest in it, but that interest is held by a comparatively few. Why a greater portion of our population is not interested is a constant puzzle to us. . . . We wish that all the people would at least try us out; and then if they do not like us, tell us why before they drop us. After all, it is a community organization and the criticism of any member of the community is welcome."

"Personally I feel that those who have not interested themselves in community plays are missing much. I remember so vividly the first community play I attended, which was shortly after I came to Santa Ana."

Sees First Play
"It was 'Seven Keys to Baldpate.' I remember how pleasantly surprised I was to see the utter absence of amateurishness in the production. I remember the good time I had laughing at that rollicking play."

"Most of all I remember the thrilling interest I found in meeting the members of the cast afterward in real life. That is a feature of community plays that has never failed to charm me."

"You have no idea, if you have never experienced it, of the thrill of discovery that comes to you as you are buying a record, to become aware that there is something familiar about that smoky, that half, that voice, of the one who is selling you the record—and you suddenly realize that it is Annabelle of 'Good Gracious Annabelle'; or, as you are watching the pleasant young man adding up your purchases of marmalade, to search your memory and find that this is the distinguished looking gray-haired father in 'The Country Cousin.'"

Says Great Fun
"Oh, it is great fun! Of what unfailing interest it is also to see the people we already know, take the parts. What a touch of piety it gives the drama to see a close friend play in it, or to gasp at the versatility of some seasoned player with whom we feel acquainted because we have seen him so often on the stage." Emphasizing the opportunities

Nourishing there's cream in every drop

TALLER, stronger, bigger 'round the chest—that's the Western youngster. Government statistics prove it.

There's no food like milk for building husky youngsters—for building healthier grown-ups, too.

Use plenty of milk in your cooking. Meals will be more nourishing, more appetizing—especially if the milk is Alpine. There's cream in every drop.

Alpine is pure full-cream milk, made doubly rich by removing more than half the water, then homogenized so that this double supply of cream is evenly distributed through every drop.

Delicious in coffee. Improves every recipe that calls for milk. Costs less than ordinary milk—so rich it saves butter in cooking. Get Alpine today.

Alpine Tapioca Pudding

3 cups Alpine Milk, 2 1/2 cups water, 4 tbsp. tapioca, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Soak tapioca one hour in enough cold water to cover; drain. Add the Alpine Milk and water and cook in double boiler till tapioca is transparent. Add sugar, yolks of eggs, slightly beaten, and salt. Cook till it thickens. Remove from stove and add whites of eggs, beaten stiff. Flavor and chill. Serves eight.

WESTERN UNION OFFICE TO USE NEW PRINTERS

Is telegraphy to become a lost art?

If new equipment to be installed at the Santa Ana office of the Western Union Telegraph company is a forerunner of equipment to be installed all over the country, telegraphy will, indeed, become a lost art, according to Santa Ana employees in the Western Union.

The humble dot and dash artist, hero of many a book and film, as well as in real life, will be replaced by machines, as unemotional as a totem pole, it is believed.

Santa Ana employees look for the day when every telegrapher will be a stenographer, all because of the invention and adoption to commercial use of the Simplex transmitting and receiving apparatus.

By means of this new device, telegrams are sent much in the manner in which a message is typed on the typewriter. When a key is touched in the Santa Ana office holes are cut in a tape such as is used on player pianos, so that when the tape plays into the sender's machine the corresponding key on the receiving machine at the distant point is pressed into action automatically.

The machine works much in the same manner as the printer telegraph installed by the United Press in the Register office for the rapid printing of world telegraphic dispatches.

The two operators in the Santa Ana office will be replaced by girls who are now taking a course of instruction at the Simplex school in Los Angeles. Margaret Young, 1515 North Main street; Alberta Dwyer, 209 West Washington street have been chosen to operate the machines here. The two girls qualified as expert typists after a stiff examination conducted by E. C. Vanderbilt, the district commercial superintendent of the telegraph company. H. D. Hodges, manager, is also taking the Simplex course and will be in charge of the Santa Ana office as before. Virgil Marr and Earl T. Cook, operators will cease their connection with the local office.

The messages will come out of the machines on a tape, much in the manner of ticker tape in stock exchanges. One side of the tape is gummed so that the words may be clipped and pasted on telegraph blanks.

By throwing a lever, a machine may be switched from a transmitting apparatus to a receiving apparatus, and vice versa. The tape keeps a copy of everything sent for the purposes of office files.

The new machines will greatly speed up the transmission of messages, it was said, whereas, on the present Morse lines "ham" or amateur operators, sometimes retard the progress of messages by frequent interruptions, the new machines will hum along hour after hour without a break in the tape.

It is expected that within a month the new Simplex machines will be installed in the Santa Ana office. All offices of the Western Union that do any considerable amount of business will be equipped with the Simplex machines within a short time, according to word reaching here.

Reorganization Of Army's Land Forces Ordered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—To make the U. S. army more available for war or other emergency, the war department has ordered a reorganization of the regular divisions of the land forces.

The reorganization provides for three full strength infantry divisions and one cavalry division, equipped and organized for immediate operation at any time, and for three other infantry and two cavalry divisions, not fully organized, but of full enlisted strength.

Under the 1920 reorganization, the army now has nine infantry and two cavalry divisions, but the depletion of enlisted strength to approximately 110,000 has made all these organizations fragmentary.

Officials said.

Changes will not involve any alteration in the present location of troops.

The four war or full strength divisions will have headquarters as follows:

First division infantry, Fort Hamilton, N. Y.; second division infantry, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; third infantry, Camp Lewis, Wn.; first cavalry, Fort Bliss, Texas.

$23,654,267 Will

Be Distributed To Schools Of State

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12.—California counties will receive a total of $23,654,267.68 of state school funds for use during the present school year, according to announcement by William John Cooper, director of education.

Of this amount, $17,912,698.87 will be divided among elementary schools, $5,430,768.81 to high schools and $308,800 to the junior college districts of the state.

The apportionment is based upon a total elementary school attendance in the state of 597,222, or an increase of 29,775 over last year. In the high schools there were 181,027 pupils, an increase of 13,959, and in junior colleges, 2888, a gain of 820.

Los Angeles county will receive a total apportionment of $7,331,207 as its share, or approximately one-third of the total. San Francisco city and county will receive $1,653,856.38, Alameda county, $1,931,781, and Fresno, $931,314.12.

Improvements are contemplated in Chicago to provide a course for boat racing on Lake Michigan, four miles long and 400 feet wide, accommodating as many as six eight-oared crews racing at one time.

obtain the senate seat to which he was elected after spending a huge sum in the primary. Now they appear to be confident that they can frighten the senate into turning the Vare question over to the committee on privileges and elections.

May Tie Up Issues

Tax reductions, flood relief, farm relief, deficiency bills and other important legislation are on the cards for the first session of the seventeenth congress. Fast and efficient work will be required if satisfactory accomplishments are to be achieved in time for everyone to leave Washington in advance of the national conventions next year.

Even with Vare and Smith in their seats, the next senate will be a balky one, considering its political lineup. Conditions are not all favorable for fast, smooth functioning.

On the other hand, if Vare and Smith are kept out from the start, the senate will be indefinitely delayed in getting under way. There will be a grand fight over whether they should or shouldn't be seated, and no one can tell how long the fight would last, to the detriment of all else. It will be recalled that Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, Vare's champion, is a past master at filibustering—it was Reed who tied up the senate in its closing days last year.

Need Votes for Majority

Worse still—with Vare and Smith out, the Republicans will lose their bare majority in the upper house. Conditions would be bad enough in any event, but it is very important for the Republicans to have some sort of control so that they may present a half-decent legislative record for the edification of the citizens who will vote in next year's presidential and congressional elections.

None of this is lost on Vare and his supporters and they are convinced that the Republican party will not bar Vare without giving the matter most serious thought.

SWEETENED VEGETABLES

All summer vegetables have a nicer taste if from one to four tablespoons of sugar is added to the boiling water.

The "Knack of Managing"

In the hands of the shrewd and careful housewife family funds seemingly can be "stretched." Some women, the majority in fact, have what is known as "the knack of managing." These are the clever shoppers—those women who study stores and their methods and plan each expenditure long before it is made. Of such it is often enviously said, "I just don't see how she does it." A sort of "partnership" exists between the Safeway Man and the managing type of women. She has learned to depend upon him—to use the vast facilities he offers to affect the economies that have gained her reputation for her.

According to plans, the children's sports are to be held from 11 o'clock to 12 o'clock. Lunch will follow. A ball game between the Redondo and the Riverside lodge will be held from 1 o'clock to 2 o'clock. Dancing will be enjoyed from 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock. The adult sports are from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

A prize is to be awarded the lodge that has the largest percentage of membership present. The Santa Ana lodge is contending for the prize.

Lunch baskets are to be brought by the picnicers. Coffee, and cold drinks will be served to the members and their friends.

About 1000 members of the fraternal brotherhood are being expected at the picnic, held annually. Last Friday, forty members of the Santa Ana lodge were the guests of the lodge No. 9, Fraternal Brotherhood, in Los Angeles for a dinner dance.

INITIATION IS HELD BY FRATERNAL AID

A number of officials of the Fraternal Aid union were present as visitors at the meeting of the Santa Ana lodge held last Friday evening in the M. W. A. hall. The head deputy, S. W. Kern, of Long Beach, was one of the visitors attending the meeting.

A business session was presided over by the president, R. P. Mitchell. The degree team initiated Miss Lillian Arnold.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the committee under the direction of Mrs. J. Wiley Harris, chairman. Dancing was held until adjournment. Officials present at the meeting were the head deputy, S. W. Kern and Mrs. Kern of Long Beach; the local deputy, Jay Krebs and Mrs. Krebs, D. F. Campbell and a number of others from Orange.

Winders' finger was so badly chewed up that it was necessary to amputate it.

W. B. A. ELECTS BINA WEST TO HEAD OFFICE

By a unanimous vote, Miss Bina West was elected to the supreme presidency of the Woman's Benefit association at the national convention held recently at Port Huron, according to reports received in Santa Ana by members of the fraternal benefit society. This is the fifth year that Miss West has been elected to the office.

The 1929 convention is to take place in London with installation in Paris. It was decided.

Law amendments cited on cover popular new plans of insurance including pensions, disability, educational benefits, thrift and sickness. The office of a national health supervisor was created by the convention to supervise the side field of health activities engaged in by the association.

At a meeting of the Native Daughters of the Golden West held last night in Getty hall, Mrs. Bertha Hill, first vice president of Long Beach parlor, conducted the initiation ceremonies in the absence of Mrs. Mamie Schonberg, president, whose duties as district deputy called her to Long Beach. Mrs. May Horton and Miss Juanita Isenor were initiated as members of the order.

Arrangements were made to entertain San Diego and Long Beach parlors at the next meeting of Santa Ana parlor on August 24, and Mrs. Muriel Bray was appointed to take charge of the entertainment.

Miss Bernice Rankin, of Long Beach, district deputy for Santa Ana parlor, was included in the invitation given to Long Beach parlor to be present on August 24.

It was decided to give a card party on the fifth Wednesday of August at Getty hall. Tickets for the event may be obtained from Mrs. Mamie Schonberg, president, or other members of the order who have them for sale.

Silk Hats Cooler Than Straw, Claim

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 12.—The brow of a man wearing a hard straw hat gets two and three-tenths degrees hotter on a sultry summer day than the brow of a man wearing a tall silk hat, the government meteorologist here has found after exhaustive tests.

Under the supervision of C. J. Root, the local weather bureau head who devised the experiment, a group of men were equipped with hats or caps of different styles which they wore in the hot sun for several hours. The temperature under the headgear was then taken and it was found that the heads under hard straw hats registered 92.3 degrees while heads under tall silk ones showed only 89.6 degrees.

Other types of hats and caps and the "underneath" temperature, as recorded by Root follow: Soldiers cap 89.6. Cloth cap 94.1. Soft felt hat 78.7. Soft white straw or Panama 77.9. The derby was not tested.

ONE GETS DIPLOMA. STAUNTON, Va., Aug. 12.—A supervisor of the Virginia state board of education recently had to travel 176 miles to address a graduating class composed of one person. He gave the diploma to Miss Ruth Hickman, at Millboro. Had the senior class been duly organized, she would have been president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

SCOT LADDIES ARE GROWING HUSKIER

EDINBURGH, Aug. 12.—A group of husky Scots who participated in a historical pageant at Craig-nallar Castle are convinced that they are bigger men than their ancestors.

For the fete they had to don ancient armor and most of them were unable to squeeze into it. There was plenty of armor, but only a few of the participants found a suit which was even an approximate fit. They were all too big for the metal apparel.

The tightness of the armor compelled all the larger men in the cast to obtain other costumes and a London theatrical firm was called on to supply posthaste some armor of more recent design, proportioned to the stature of twentieth century Scotsmen. But if the warriors of old were smaller they must at least have been riper of brawn. Swords used by soldiers in the days of the Scottish King James IV were so heavy they could hardly be raised above the heads of participants in the pageant, even after practice prior to the event.

ROASTED AND VACUUM PACKED IN LOS ANGELESLITTLE CHANGE REPORTED IN FINLAND DIET

HELSINKI, Aug. 12.—The latest available figures show that the composition of the new Diet will not materially differ from that of the previous one. The outstanding feature of this election is that it has been fought with a social democratic government in office, the first since the insurrection of 1918. In view of the strong opposition against this Labor government, it is remarkable that its party has not lost ground, but has gained 60 out of a total of 200 seats in the Diet, which is the same number as at the last election.

The communists have increased their numbers by two (to 20), the Swedish party has gained one seat and now numbers 24 members. The Finnish Progressive party has lost seven seats and now possesses only 10 members. The Agrarian party has gained seven seats, bringing this group up to the strength of 53, the largest bourgeois party. The Conservative Finnish party has lost four seats, now numbering 34 members.

The main practical result of the election is the frustration of the hope of the Finnish bourgeois parties of forming a majority bloc capable of upholding a strong government without the support of either the Labor or the Swedish party.

The latter party, representing the Swedish-speaking population of the country, with the exception of a very small number voting for labor, has recently supported the social democratic government, which has proclaimed its intention of safeguarding the constitutional rights of the Swedish-speaking population. The communists have reluctantly given their support to the Social Democrats, whom they consider their most dangerous po-

Paris, Resorts
To Be Connected
By Air Service

PARIS, Aug. 12.—A daily air service from Marseilles to Nice will shortly connect the French Riviera with the capitals of Europe.

Because of the lack of a suitable landing field the flight from Marseilles will be made with hydroplanes which will use Villefranche bay, two miles from Nice, as a base.

The contour of the Riviera is such that it will be necessary for engineers practically to build the mile-square landing field necessary for large passenger planes. It is expected that the work of leveling such a field will be started next year. The hydroplane service will start in the near future.

Foreign Negroes
Pour In On Paris

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Paris has a "Harlem" of its own. Gradually the large negro population that has poured in upon the French capital since the war has gravitated towards Montmartre.

The "colored boys" and negroes who call Paris home have come to France from many places. Some are from America, others from Africa, and many from Martinique, and the French West Indies.

"Charleston City" is the name Paris Caucasians have given to the section of Montmartre where the negroes live. Many of the members of the colony are dancers, jazz band musicians, door openers and messengers in establishments that go in for red and gold uniforms.

Straight rail and balkline billiards are the popular styles of the green-table sport in Europe. Pocket billiards and three-cushions are little known abroad, and hence are not played much.

Political adversaries, as they are even more reluctant to support the bourgeois-opposition.

JAPANESE BOYS
SEEKING 1000
WIVES IN TOKIO

TOKIO, Aug. 12.—A thousand Japanese emigrants want brides.

That is one of the calls going over the country today despite the crashing of banks and the beating of political drums. Those seeking to woo Hymen are young Japanese who have decided to emigrate to Brazil and to stay there. They will make their new home in the extensive concession that the Brazilian government gave to a group of Japanese capitalists, this concession being along the banks of the lower Amazon.

One of the points that Brazil laid stress on when she invited Japanese settlers to populate her waste regions was that they must be permanent settlers and both Brazilian authorities and Japanese officials concerned agreed to agree that permanent settlers should be married. Hence the clamor call for a thousand brides.

Japanese girls generally hesitate to embark on long journeys that may never permit them to return to the land of their birth.

However, the difficulties of making a living in Japan today—due to the depressed condition of every sort of business, the lack of capital and the ever-growing overpopulation have resulted in good responses to the call for brides and all those concerned, including the prospective bridegrooms, are optimistic that the full quota of wives will be forthcoming before the emigrant ship sails.

Bill Klem umpired his first professional game in the old Connecticut league in 1898. Afterwards he umpired at various times in every state of the Union and in many foreign countries, having accompanied the Giants on their trip around the world in 1911.

China Needs New Philosophy, Says
Chinese Student

PEKING, Aug. 12.—Speaking with a courage rarely found in present-day Chinese, Dr. Hu Shih, upon his return from America, declared "We are not a modern nation! Lindbergh, the American aviator, flew from New York to Paris and a day or two later his record was broken by a flight from New York to Germany. But we in China are still riding in rickshas and wheelbarrows."

Dr. Hu Shih, who took his degree at Columbia university, has for several years been classed as a Chinese radical, but with the trend of events last year, his sensible brand of radicalism has been smothered under the Russian imported variety of bloodshed and pillage.

"China cannot content itself shouting high-sounding slogans," continued Dr. Hu. "We must reconstruct. We need a new philosophy, one which recognizes the spirituality of a material civilization. We must catch up with the world rather than keep toddling along in rickshas."

Dr. Hu drew the analogy of the Chinese merchant from Kansu who traveled 104 days to attend a meeting of the chamber of commerce in Peking and that of the state of material development in the United States, where one man in every four owns a motor car.

Novel Night Auto Signs In Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Novel detour and other auto signs clearly visible at night have been installed in a number of German cities.

These signs have no lights of their own but reflect the light of the approaching car. The device has the great advantage of cheapness. It has even been extended to milestones which flare up for a moment as the car's lights strike them in speeding by.

Franz Josef Land

By Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-26

Franz Josef Land, a group of little islands far up in the Arctic Circle, was discovered by an Austrian expedition in 1873. Lieutenants Carl Weyprecht and Julius Payer were seeking a route to the Pole around the northeast coast of Nova Zembla. Their ship, frozen into an ice floe, drifted for two years helplessly in the Arctic currents.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1923-26.

After their awful cruise, the sight of Franz Josef Land burst upon them suddenly one day when the fog lifted. But it was two months before they could land.

When they finally were able to land, Payer, with two men, dogs and a sledge set off to explore the land.

On that eventful journey a snow bridge collapsed, and sledge, dog and one of the men fell into a deep crevice. The whole weight of the sledge hung upon a rope which Payer had tied about his waist. It was slowly cutting him in two. His companion rushed to the edge of the precipice and, seeing the load had but a few feet farther to fall, told Payer to cut the rope. (To Be Continued)

When they had finished with their feast, King Clowny shouted, "Well, at least, I'll have to say that was the grandest meal I've ever had. 'Course I was hungry, like as not, and that just made it touch the spot. If all of you have liked it 'too, you surely should be glad."

"We are! we are!" the whole bunch cried. And then King Clowny slowly sighed. Said he, "I'll have to take a nap. I'm sleepy as can be." He then leaned back upon the throne and snored in quite a funny tone. One Goofy Goo then said, "Let's all go swimming in the sea."

The Tinymites all liked his plan, so, in a hurry, off they ran. And when they reached the sea they found a big surprise in store. Said Goofy, "Say, is this a dream? This sea was once just white whipped cream, and now the cream is gone, and water's washing up on shore."

"Oh, this sea changes every day," said one small Goofy. "Come, let's play." And in the whole bunch ran to have a very dandy swim. They played around an hour or so and then they thought 'twas time to go, and into shore they scampered quick, all feeling very trim.

King Clowny woke up from his snooze. Said he, "There is no time to lose. I want to see the Goofy's home. Will someone lead the way?" The Goofy Goo yelled, "Sure we will, when you get down, don't take a spill." And, as they started through the woods, the crowd felt very gay.

They walked about a mile or so, and then a Goofy shouted, "Whoa! Look just ahead! You'll see the home about which we all rave." The Tinymites looked ahead, and then they looked and looked and looked again, for they were very much surprised to find it was a cave.

(The Goofy Goo's cave caves in in the next story.)

THE WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Helen's sister, who has four babies, looks with disapproval upon sister Helen who has none.

Helen's sister tells Helen that she is not doing her duty, that she is not accepting her share of the world's responsibilities, and that she ought to be ashamed of herself for keeping her job instead of rearing children.

I am not sure that I want to enter into discussion of whether it really is a duty of all married people to have babies.

But I do want to tirade against a quaint little human custom of foisting our own choices, our own ways of living, upon everyone else.

Sometimes when Helen, who knows very well just what her plan of life calls for, and what she intends to do, gets terribly riled at sister Lucy, she says—

"Oh, she's just miserable herself trying to keep those four young-uns clothed and fed and educated, and she wants me to have the same trouble!"

Brother Bob and his tribe look askance at Helen and her husband, Tom, too. They think they are spendthrifts and luxury lovers.

You see Helen, who plays the piano like a genius, and Tom, who would rather sing than eat, bought a $750 baby grand piano the other day.

The family is aghast!

"When you can get an upright good enough for anybody for $350!"

"And they don't even own their own home!"

The family's idea of the proper place for money, you see, is in houses and lots. They would no more buy a baby grand than a family airplane, so why should Helen and Tom?

In other words, the family idea of investment must be Helen's and Tom's idea, too!

I know another family of the old school which is much annoyed by a daughter's platinum and diamond engagement rings, costing $250. Ma never had an engagement ring, and in her day the only girls who had them were either betrothed to rich lads or to waitresses who bought but did not pay.

Ma knows that her girl's swain is not rich, so she opines that he is flagrantly extravagant, and "throws the ring up to" her daughter as proof simple she will end her days in the poor house.

As a matter of fact, to me Helen and Tom have a much better working, more efficient, thrifty, practical plan of life, even if it does include a grand piano, than do their critics.

They are young. They have no idea of dodging any responsibilities, although they plan to have children, not as "responsibilities" and "a duty," but because they want them.

But, noting the haphazard way in which Lucy brings up her children because they have nothing, Helen and Tom have a plan which provides for "something to start on" before getting entangled with responsibilities which they cannot properly meet.

All of Helen's salary goes into the bank for "a home of our own." All of Tom's salary is carefully budgeted, and, aside from the economic phase, they play fair, too. Tom maintains that as long as Helen is working for a common possession, the housework is no more her job than his. He markets and cooks and irons and dusts and washes dishes as much as she does. As for the piano, its cost nowhere nearly equals some of the luxury expenditures of their critics.

GLISTENING NAILS

If my fingernails don't look up to the standard I like to see them, and I am in too much of a hurry to give them a real manœuvre, I find that two little tricks will make them seem well manœuvred. One is to polish them very highly, the other to rub cold cream into them and leave it a minute or so. As to that—I find that washing the hands thoroughly, using a not-to-stiff nail brush, then cleaning under them and rubbing a little bit of cream around them, wiping this off with a towel, takes less than 60 seconds by the clock and is worth a great deal in improving the looks of the fingers. If I can do something else for a minute or so, I do—such as putting on a dress or combing hair or some little thing like that, it gives the skin time to take up the cream. Then give the fingers a very quick scrub with the brush and warm water—it takes off the surface oil, but not all of it. You'll find the cuticle has smoothed itself out during the short time the cream was on.

Then comes the polish. I never advise powder polish to finish a manicure—the powder dries the cuticle. When I'm in a hurry, I sometimes paint on a nail varnish. One kind washes off of itself in a day or so, most of them have to come off with polish remover. Generally I rub a little reddish paste on the buffer and then a few brisk rubbings make the nails shine quite enough. When it's a case of fixing the nails quickly, the painted on polish does save time. It can be taken off at a more leisurely moment! If you do use cake or powder polish, use it while the nails have cold cream around them, then scrub off cream and powder dust together, and polish again with clean buffer.

Are Conventions Really Superficial?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

What is the right standard of living? When do we know that we are letting down the bars of convention too much, and when too little?

Why do we not live like the pioneers of old in a little shack of one or two rooms? Why do we use tablecloths and silver forks on our tables and spreads on our beds?

When do convention and decent living become extravagance? How are we to know the things we may do without and the things that social usage says we must have?

A young married woman living in a western city, declared that by living out near the mine, of which her husband was superintendent, they could save money. There would be no standard of living to keep up and it was their chance to pile up a goodly sized bank account.

Ten years later, a timid, shabbily dressed person called upon an old friend in the city, who to the friend's astonishment, proved to be the young woman who had so courageously left convention behind and braved life in the wilds with her mining husband.

She had come for advice. "I should have come sooner," she said, hesitatingly. "But I did not realize what was happening to us. I've been out of touch with people and things for so long I haven't dared to venture near any of my old haunts."

"We started by saving on laundry. We used oilcloth on the table. I wasn't very well, so to save steps we ate in the little kitchen. I never dressed in the evening, as there was no one to see me. Steve came home tired and dirty. We had no bathroom and he'd just wash his hands, take off his coat and sit down to supper. He said there was no use in shaving—no one saw him but the Mexican miners and their families. I was usually too tired to read, so gave up trying to keep up on things. We did let down dreadfully."

"We have a little money now, but aren't we too far gone to enjoy it? I have no sense of values left. I can't even talk to people."

"No," said the friend. "But you

THE JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES

Old Bill Jones has weary bones
And fingers cut and sore,
He's blue and black and his aching back
Seems to bother him more and more.

There's an ugly gash where a hammer smash
Has flattened his good right thumb.
And a ladder fell, and he sighs to tell
That part of an arm is numb.

Now somehow Bill, as some men will
Got the notion in his head
That he could do the work of a crew
If only the books he read.

So he'll hammer and pound the morning round

And labor to build a dock,
He'll fit a pipe, and a joint he'll wipe
Then try to repair a clock.

But something slips and his frail flesh rips
Leaving many an ugly scar
And each plastered spot is proof
That he's not

As good as the craftsmen are.
And when old Bill Jones, with his endless moans
Comes telling his pains to me,
By his bandaged hand, I understand
That a plumber he's tried to be.

And I say with a grin as he ambles in Well, carpenter, painter, too
Tinmith and roofer, piano mover
How goes it with all of you?

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS

The Photographers' Association of America makes an eloquent plea for the revival of the family photograph album. Not necessarily as a public benefaction, either, though it might be regarded in that light.

History can never adequately portray the debt owed to the aforesaid album. For two generations it ranked next to the Bible as a family treasure, and lay beside it on the table in the darkened living room. It never had a serious rival during all that time, except possibly the stereoscope.

It was a source of never-failing inspiration to the members of the family and invaluable as a social asset. How many million young men have been saved from embarrassment by having the family portrait gallery opportunity shoved into their willing hands. How many million afternoons and evenings—and especially evenings—have thereby been rendered a special success instead of a tongue-tied failure. And to come down to our own generation, how rich is the entertainment afforded by that same album, even though its chief appeal nowadays is the unintentional humor of those old pictures, in pose, expression and sartorial style.

Now, alas, there are so many other forms of entertainment that the album is no longer a social necessity. Yet it deserves a revival, for the family associations it represents and preserves. It ministers to the sense of family continuity and preserves many a relationship that otherwise would be forgotten. And what matter if the next generation were to laugh at our pictures just as we, graceless scoffers that we are, laugh at those of our parents and grandparents?

The photographers, however, have quite a different slant on the thing. They want the album revived on the ground that its disuse has lost them money. It would pay them richly, they think, if there were once more an album in every house, gaping for new pictures. Millions would be rushing to the galleries for photos to fill those empty pages. It might work that way. Nevertheless, as far as an outsider can see, the photographers might not profit so much as they fancy. In making pictures for insertion in an album, they couldn't mount the print on an expensive card, then insert the card in a more expensive paper frame, and insert that frame in a still more expensive folder. In selling pictures, they would sell less paper. And any good photographic business man can tell you there's money in fancy paper.

THE WASTE OF WAR

A terrific arraignment of the economic waste of war comes to the Register through a friend. It is an excerpt from an address of Victor Berger's in the House of Representatives. Assuming but not knowing the accuracy of Mr. Berger's figures, they are appalling.

"According to the best statistics obtainable," he says, "the World war cost 30,000,000 lives and in property $400,000,000,000."

With this amount, Mr. Berger estimates that "we could have built a house worth $2500 and furnished this house with $1000 worth of furniture and placed it on 5 acres of land worth $100 an acre, and given all this to each and every family in the United States of America, Canada, Australia, England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia."

"After doing this there would be enough money left to give each city of 200,000 inhabitants and over, in all the countries named, a $5,000,000 library, a $5,000,000 hospital and a $10,000,000 university."

"And then out of the balance we could still have sufficient money to set aside a sum at 5 per cent interest which could pay for all time to come a $1000 yearly salary for each of an army of 125,000 teachers, and in addition to this, to pay the same salary to an army of 125,000 nurses."

"And after having done all of this, we could have enough left out of the four hundred billion dollars to buy all of France, and Belgium and everything of value that France and Belgium possesses; that is every French and Belgian farm, home, factory, church, railroad, street cars—in fact everything of value in those countries."

PEACE PIPE PAGEANT

Basing our opinion upon the fact that what Laguna Beach does it does well, as well as upon our cherished remembrances of the presentation of the Peace Pipe Pageant a few years ago, we have no hesitation in proclaiming the merits of this year's Peace Pipe Pageant. The first performance is to be given this evening beneath the full moon among graceful eucalyptus trees, a setting that alone has an irresistible allure for those who know Laguna. Performances are to be given up to and including the evening of August 31.

Laguna Beach, its new state highway section completed, is enjoying a busy summer season. Just now with a fiesta in full swing and with the Peace Pipe Pageant opening, Laguna Beach is indeed a place of pleasing activity.

WHO CONTROLS THE AIR?

The advance of flying raises anew the argument as to who always debatable question of state sovereignty. Who is going to control the air, the federal government or the sovereign states?

If old precedents are followed the federal government will control interstate flying, and each state will control flying within its own borders, for such a general principle and division of interest has been applied to regulation of business, to control of railroads, to jurisdiction in court matters.

This precedent was established in times when a journey across a state line was an event, when business houses which carried on their trade outside their own community were exceptional. A day's journey in those times was a journey across the county. A day's journey in these flying times is a journey across the country. No airplane constructed even today has such clipped wings that its flying range is limited to one state, and for this reason, the argument that all flying control should come under federal jurisdiction has much weight.

One other fact which adds merit to this argument is the evidence of the present move to have the states establish a uniform traffic code for the regulation of motor vehicle movements. If even the automobile has made state regulation of travel annoying, certainly the airplane, in ten years at least, will make state regulation a nuisance.

May Good Luck Fly With Each One

San Francisco Chronicle

Government inspection of the planes and personnel of the starters in the Dole race to Honolulu does not guarantee that each approved entry will complete the flight. When the daring aviators turn their frail craft toward those faraway islands there will be all the elements of uncertainty, not only as to which will win but as to who will survive.

A flight of 2400 miles above the water and directed at a tiny speck in the ocean is at best a hazardous adventure. Any person mentally fit to make the attempt is conscious of the risk. It is not a joyride. It is a serious undertaking in the interest of the new science of flying. While the government approval of the entries does not remove the risk it does bar from competition the haphazard flyers.

Preliminary reports of minor accidents to some of the aspirants had given uneasiness to many disinterested readers. There was the suggestion of flighty pilots in rickety planes starting across the Pacific as on a lark. Visions of disaster were not hard to conjure. And hardly less important would be the cheapening of the event itself.

But there is to be no such looseness in the direction of this great air classic. The Darius Greens cannot get in. If they want to risk their own necks probably nothing can stop them, not even the United States Government. The Pacific ocean is there for them to drop into. But they cannot hang their folly on the Dole expedition. That is to be a race between experts, competent to make the flight, and equipped with machinery capable of doing it. If any fails it will not be for need of adequate preparation. May the best plane and the best pilot win. This is certain, that the winner will be a good plane with a good pilot. The management of the race and Uncle Sam have seen to that.

Rise of The Rural Press

Riverside Press

The most remarkable feature of American journalism is the growth, development and influence of the country weekly newspaper and small town daily. Fifteen to 25 years ago practically all of these representatives of the smaller cities and towns consisted of poorly printed sheets of local items and boiler plate. Today look at them. The great majority are clearly printed, they carry a certain amount of the more important national and international news along with the strictly local columns; they are filled with advertising; most important, they have editorial columns.

Above all, this last cannot be exaggerated. From mere reporters of town happenings they have risen to an important, possibly the most important place as leaders of thought and comment on local, state and national problems. Their opinions are usually well founded and intelligent. They sway politics, industrial and business progress, and national affairs in a large way.

It would be well for the average citizen to better appreciate the character and influence of the rural press. It may give him another slant on the reason for America's unprecedented progress.

For State Efficiency

Riverside Press

Governor Young's council is now complete; and the governor and the people of the state are to be congratulated on the high character of the people who have been named to head the various departments. Some of them were already in state service, and others are new people; but in every instance the department head is an outstanding person in that field of activity and the effective administration of the public service has been the first consideration in all the appointments. The various departments are now better organized than ever before and overlapping functions have been eliminated. The plan of conferences between the governor and the members of his council should promote harmony and efficiency in the administration of the state government; and California's experiment will be watched with marked interest by other states.

HOW SPORTS AFFECT HEALTH

An investigator named Herxheimer found that the hearts of track athletes exceeded to some extent those of normal persons, depending upon the event trained for. The hearts of marathon runners were larger than those of long distance runners, the latter greater than those of middle distance runners and the smallest those of sprinters. Jumping and weight throwing did not place so much demand upon the body that changes of the heart occurred. Only the runners were concerned in the investigations of track athletes.

Drs. Felix Deutsch and Emil Kauf examined 301 track athletes, of whom 19 were champions. In general, the hearts of track athletes were not enlarged over the normal so measurements did occur. Of all of the track athletes examined, 8.3 per cent had considerable enlargements, although the amount of enlargement was not so great as that of the swimmers. Long and short distance runners were compared, and these investigators were not able to find such a definitely increased greater risk of the marathon runners as compared with the runner of short distances as Herxheimer found.

Only a few women track athletes were studied, since women have only recently begun to participate in this form of activity. The hearts of the women were much less frequently enlarged than were those of the men. This is explained by the fact that women track athletes do not train seriously or to anywhere nearly the same extent as do men, or as do women swimmers.

Competitive rowing is one of the most severe of sports and few trainers will undertake to accept men for training until they have first been carefully examined by physicians as to the state of their hearts. The German investigators examined 150 oarsmen whose average age was 23.9 years. The longer the man had been oarsman, the greater in general was the enlargement of the heart. On the other hand, there was not a general increase in enlargement, since great deviations were found in individual cases.

The Male Still Has Some Rights in the Fiji Islands

Misrepresentative

By Alfred Noyes

The man who mistakes insolence for liberty, and, conscious of the new might of America, swaggers facetiously over the ancient traditions of nations that have led civilization for a thousand years—this is a spectacle that is growing too common; and it does more harm than can be undone by a hundred Americans of the finer type. But this is a matter for Americans themselves to remedy; just as, on the English side, it has been a matter for the English to look after their own offenders. There is no courtesy, no thoughtfulness for others, so gracious and warm-hearted anywhere in the world as may be found in America. But it is no exaggeration to say that, if America has a rush of power to the head, and develops an American Junkerdom under the disguise of democracy, the end of it will be as disastrous to America, power or no power, gold or no gold, as it has always been to every swelled head in history. . . . During the last few years, I have heard and seen isolated Americans talking and eating in a way that seemed to me far more offensive toward other nationalities than I could have believed possible at the present day. There would be little use in talking about this here, except that it does account for at least half the animosity that has grown up in Europe during the last five years.

Worth While Verse

BY WAY OF FIRE

I've come to think that by way of fire
Joy may be reached, and just as soon
As the invisible, swift heat of desire
May reach and embrace the moon.

And I've a thought, too, that ruin lays
A glittering road for Beauty to travel:
And at every cross-road the sign-post says
It's the miles behind you've got to unravel.

But the one thing I could never make out,
The legible and assumptive thrust
Of the wind that blows my passions about
And leaves but their shadows on the dust.

SUPERSTITIONS of all kinds are not far removed from ignorance. Superstition implies fear and folks are afraid of that which they do not understand. In olden days when anything unusual happened or a phenomena occurred people tried to explain it by the law of cause and effect—something was done to bring about this result. So there sprang up many superstitions which we find persisting even in this enlightened age. We find ourselves carefully not going under a ladder, picking up a herring on a nail, avoiding a number thirteen and observing a hundred other superstitions. We do it with a laugh, a little apologetically perhaps, because we feel we know better and yet we continue to give in to our impulse of fear of an imagined result if we do not observe the superstition. More than that we go right on handing down to our children this heritage of bondage to ignorance. The child's mind is like the infant mind of the race and being so gullible and impressionable, it, of course, believes.
